City Tax Rate Fixed At $18; Council Cuts $42,000 From Schools

General Fund Budget
$87,000 Less Than Last Year

URGE SALARY CUTS Hope to Reduce Municipal Bank Loans by $100,000

The tax rate for 1933 was fixed at $18 last night by the common council which voted to levy $275,000 for city schools and pared the general city budget down to $434,350, a decrease of slightly more than $67,000 from last year's estimated expenditures. The school tax levy was $42,000 less than the $317,000 requested by the board of education and it is $60,000 less than was levied a year ago. The levy for county and state taxes is about $49,000 less than a year ago.

The council estimated that the $18 tax rate will produce sufficient revenue, together with other municipal receipts, to operate the city in 1933 and also pay off about $100,000 of the $160,000 loaned from banks this year. Total receipts were estimated at $819,856, and total expenditures for 1933, including repayment of $30,000 loans, were computed at $875,000.

A salary reduction ranging from 5 per cent on all salaries under $1,000 to 20 per cent on salaries over $3,000 were suggested as a means of effecting substantial savings. It was suggested that the reductions be made upon this basis in all departments of the city.

All Feel Knife

Every governmental function over which the council has the authority of tax levy felt the pruning knife. The library appropriation was trimmed from $16,500 to $15,000, another $2,000 was cut off the park appropriation, reducing it to $10,000, and the vocational school levy was reduced from $45,000 to $38,000. Decreases in salaries paid firemen and policemen resulted in a $4,000 cut in the appropriation for the police department and an $8,000 slash for the fire department. The council also took $5,000 off the appropriation for music in the school and then turned over the $5,000 that was left to the board of education with instructions to carry on the work.

The estimate for the public relief department, of course, had to be a leap in the dark, for no amount of foresight could determine the load this department will be forced to carry through the coming year. Last year the estimated budget for this department was $25,000, while $68,624 actually was expended. For 1933 the estimate is $40,000.

The budget and tax levy were adopted unanimously by the council, but the $18 rate in the school levy resulted in a 9 to 3 vote. Aldermen C. D. Thompson, S. O. Davis and Mike Steinhilber voting against a reduction as large as $22,000. There also was a lack of unanimity in the vote on the resolution recommending the method of applying the salary cuts, several aldermen being of the opinion that the various city departments should be permitted to work out their own schedule of reductions.

The $90,000 decrease in the county levy helped materially in maintaining the $18 rate. The county asks for $149,942 for next year, compared with $193,161 this year. The levy for county schools is approximately the same, $30,721 for next year, as against $30,707 this year. The total county levy against the city is $174,664, while last year it was $223,663.

Receipts Fall Off

While the city received $296,510 in receipts other than the tax levy this year, it is expected these incomes next year will drop to $266,574. Revenues from the Wisconsin Michigan Power company, Wisconsin Telephone company, licenses, and permits are expected to be about the same, but marked decreases are anticipated in income tax, state aid for highways, and automobile gas tax. This year the city received $70,594 from the income tax, next year it expects only $30,000. This year's state aid on

104 Believed Dead As Monsoon Hits Tokio Destroyer

Vessel Drifts Upside Down In East China Sea During Storm

Tokio —(P)—The trim Japanese destroyer Sawarabi drifted upside down in the east China sea today, with 104 of her crew probably dead, victims of the treacherous monsoon that blows off the coast of Asia.

The phenomena known as the burst of the monsoon, or sudden seasonal change in the usually steady wind, struck the Sawarabi and three sister ships 100 miles off Formosa island Monday afternoon. The darkness descended on the destroyers late yesterday afternoon in the midst of the storm, and the sister ships—the Sanaya, the Kuretake, and the Wakatake—lost sight of the Sawarabi as she wallowed helplessly in the troughs of the sea. The three stood by the Sawarabi, and as soon as conditions cleared early today, picked up 16 survivors from the sea, one of whom later died of his injuries. The skipper, Lieut. Commander Kengo Kawata, went to his death with his ship, as far as the naval ministry knew. Meanwhile the commander of the Mako naval base in the Pescadores, off Formosa, sent a cruiser, four destroyers and an aircraft carrier to the scene.

Inquiry Ordered
The naval ministry prepared a preliminary report to the emperor today, and ordered an investigation. Meanwhile the cause of the accident was not ascertained.

Inside the hull of the Sawarabi, as it bobbed dangerously in the northern entrance of Formosa strait, were believed to be most of

High Court Rules In Funds Dispute

Milwaukee County Not Responsible for State Money in Closed Banks

Madison —(P)—Milwaukee co is not responsible for the state's share of 1932 income taxes which are impounded in closed or moratorium banks until such time as the money again is placed in the county treasury's possession, the state supreme court ruled today.

The decision means that County Treasurer Patrick McMann is not personally liable for the state taxes, amounting to $320,000 and that the state will have to await the liquidation or reopening of the banks that have the money before it can get all or any part of the impounded funds.

The high court's decision, written by Justice Chester A. Fowler, held that the county treasurer, in the collection of all income taxes that were paid in Milwaukee co this year acted solely as an agent in collecting the state's share.

The opinion said that in this case the county treasurer could not be charged with losses occurring through no misconduct or negligence of his own.

While the action applied to Milwaukee it establishes a precedent governing all county units in the state.

Farmers Prepare to Make Relief Demands

Washington —(P)—Fresh from the great midwestern wheat and corn belt, 60 overall-clad farmers assembled in the national capital today to lay before congress the needs of their neighbors back home.

Supplied with food and bedding, they did not encounter police obstacles and put up for the night with friends or at a tourist camp. Eight states—Arkansas, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Nebraska, Oregon, and Wyoming—were represented.

Tomorrow, with the arrival by truck of others from the farm regions, they will open the Farmers National Relief conference to marshal their demands to congress.

These include a moratorium on farm debts, increased agricultural prices, and cash relief.

Einstein Granted U. S. Permission To Enter Country

Berlin —(P)—Dr. Albert Einstein and Frau Einstein were advised by the Associated Press this morning that the state department had granted them permission to come to the United States. They said they would leave Dec. 10 as scheduled.

The Women's patriotic corporation of the United States recently protested against admittance of Dr. Einstein to this country on the ground that he belonged to Communist organizations, an objection that was forwarded to Berlin.

The correspondent reached Frau Einstein at the Einstein summer home.

"That's splendid," she said, when messengers were explained, "from the deluge of cables reaching us last night and this morning, we know Americans of all classes were deeply disturbed over the case."

Five Under Arrest in Robbery of Messenger

Chicago —(P)—One man was held by police today for a fugitive hearing and four others were in custody in connection with the $46,000 robbery last summer of a Milwaukee bank messenger and his guard.

George Berman, 22, alias Isadore Kelloggath was the only one of the quintet whose identity was revealed by police following their arrest yesterday. Police said a rooming house proprietor identified Berman as one of the gang that plotted the robbery.

In the robbery Kenneth Miller, messenger for the Badger State bank, and his guard, Paul Rother, were held up and robbed of $22,000 in cash and $24,000 in checks and securities.

Smith Reynolds Estate Settlement Is Sought

Winston-Salem, N. C. —(P)—Negotiations looking toward a final settlement in February of the estate of the late Smith Reynolds, tobacco fortune heir, have been begun by attorneys for the Reynolds family and Libby Holman Reynolds, the youthful millionaire's widow.

Genet Polkoff, Winston-Salem attorney retained by Alfred Holman, Cincinnati, Ohio, lawyer, to represent his daughter when Mrs. Reynolds was indicted for murder in connection with young Reynolds' death, announced today settlement of the estate had been started.

Polkoff refused to disclose any figures or to say along what lines the settlement would be made. He said Holman had come here last week to confer with him.

Seven Nabbed in Arson Conspiracy

Accused of Burning Two Great Lakes Steamers At Moorings

Detroit —(P)—Prosecutor Harry S. Tapp said today that seven men, including Captain William Nicholson, veteran Great Lakes shipper, are under arrest in connection with an arson conspiracy plot growing out of the burning last June of two steamers at their moorings in Ecorse.

Those under arrest besides Capt. Nicholson, Tapp said, are Charles Nicholson, nephew of the captain, now living in Port Huron; Peter Mendis, River Rouge; Reuben Meritewh, Detroit; Sam Palazzolo, Wyandotte; Sivereno Darin, River Rouge; and Harold Hartway, Lincoln Park.

The prosecutor said that all except Capt. Nicholson have admitted participation in a plot to burn the ships. He said Mendis and Meritewh have admitted they started the fires.

The steamers burned were the Dover and the Keystone, and the prosecutor said Capt. Nicholson, who is president of the Nicholson-Erie-Dover Transportation company, already has collected $238,000 insurance from the blaze. A third ship, the Enterprise, was slightly damaged by the fire that destroyed the two other ships.

The arrests, the prosecutor said, followed a blackmailing and extortion plot among those involved.

Farmer Yields After Battle With Officers

300 Shots Fired Into Elkhorn County Home as He Defies Sheriff

BLOODLESS FIGHT

Armed Force Seizes Property Lost Through Mortgage Foreclosure

Elkhorn, Wis. —(P)—A farmer who refused to leave his property in the face of a mortgage foreclosure, preferring to defend his home with his life, surrendered early today to Elkhorn co authorities after an armed force of 20 deputy sheriffs fired more than 300 rounds of ammunition into his house.

The farmer, Max Cichon, and his wife fled early today after volleys in reply, while bullets from high-powered rifles and machine guns pierced the house. Two small children, Virginia, 10, and Max 3, huddled in a corner during the fusillade. No one was injured, although Cichon was struck by a piece of flying glass.

The farm is five miles northwest of Elkhorn in the town of Sugar Creek.

Cichon refused to surrender until windows had been shattered, and the walls and roof had been perforated by more than 100 bullets. One deputy commented that the house "looked like a sieve" when the farmer finally came out.

Cichon was lodged in the Walworth co jail at Elkhorn, charged with resisting an officer and aiming a gun, and pointing a gun April 15 without cause at an officer.

Sheriff James Mason said he had been trying to remove Cichon from the farm since April when he served him with a writ of assistance issued at the request of the Bank of Elkhorn, which holds the mortgage.

At that time, the sheriff said, the farmer ordered him and eight deputies off the place at the point of a shotgun, ordering the sheriff to march up to the house with his hands in the air.

Always Carried Gun
For months the farmer has carried a gun with him into the fields and about the farm during chore time, ready at any time, he said, "to

15 Held in Slaying Of Globe Trotter

Detained as Material Witnesses in Mystery Shooting on Yacht

Long Beach, Calif. —(P)—Eight women and seven men, passengers or members of the crew of the 110-foot round the world yacht Carma, were booked at the Long Beach city jail as "material witnesses" today in the mysterious slaying of Capt. Walter Wanderwell, globe trotter.

Wanderwell was slain last night aboard the vessel after he was called from the dining salon by a man who appeared at a screened port hole and asked for the captain. Companions, with whom he was discussing a round-the-world cruise found in his cabin, shot in the back, his right hand covering his face and a bunch of keys dangling from his left hand.

Those held are Lord Edward Eugene Montagu, London, Eng.; Mary and Marion Smith of Atlanta, Ga.; Florence Wegel, Los Angeles; Nellie Parks, Boston, Mass.; Forrest Plummer, Hollywood; L. W. Owen, Los Angeles; Jack Craig, Hollywood; Capt. James Farris, Portland, Ore.; Miss Ruth Loucks, Portland, Ore.; Cuthbert Wills and Mrs. Wills, Los Angeles; Edmund Zeranski, Hollywood; Miss Eugenia Noble, Los Angeles, and Miss Aline Allen, Los Angeles.

Only four of the passengers, the Smith sisters, Wills and Zeranski, were said to have been aboard the craft when Wanderwell was slain. The remainder of the party was detained when they returned from a motion picture show.

His two children were asleep in a cabin only a few doors from the room in which Wanderwell was slain. Mrs. Wanderwell was visiting friends in Hollywood.

HELD FOR EMBEZZLING
Radin —(P)—Elmer J. Holzschuch, 34, chief collection agent for the Clover Leaf dairy, was arrested last night on a warrant charging embezzlement of $490 of the dairy's funds.

Fortune in Securities Seized by Mail Bandits

Chicago —(P)—Five masked bandits ambushed a mail carrier and his guard in the shadow of the main postoffice at Adams and Clark streets today and escaped with mail sacks containing securities that may be worth $500,000 to $2,000,000.

It was one of the most spectacular daylight robberies in years. Shortly after 7 a. m. the carrier, Fred Voelsch, with Frank Stastny as escort, stepped from the subway entrance of the federal building and crossed Adams st. on his way to make deliveries of registered mail at the loop banks.

A small sedan containing five men drove alongside. While one remained at the wheel, the four gunmen forced the pair into the lobby of the E. W. building across the street, seized the mail sacks and the guard's revolver, jumped into their car and sped away.

Sales Tax, Slash in Federal Salaries Favored by Hoover In His Message to Congress

Dramatist Dies

Nice, France —(P)—Eugene Bieux, dramatist and member of the French academy, died today of pleurisy. His most widely known play probably was "Damaged Goods," which spread his fame around the world a few years ago. For twenty years he produced a play a year, and each was an event in the French theatre. He had been ill for several weeks.

Curtis and Garner Hear Petitions of Hunger Marchers

Vice President Carries Plea Of Demonstrators to Senate

Washington —(P)—Vice President Curtis today presented to the senate a petition from the demonstrators here demanding unemployment relief.

Under heavy police escort, delegations from 3,000 demonstrators who marched to the capitol in orderly ranks, presented the vice president and Speaker Garner with petitions for cash relief to the jobless and for unemployment insurance.

Three department of justice agents sat in the room with Vice President Curtis as the delegation headed by William Reynolds entered.

"In presenting our petition," Reynolds said, "we represent the need of 15,000,000 unemployed workers and their dependents, and farmers similarly facing starvation and ruin. These requests represent the minimum requirements for life for millions of people."

Reynolds began to say "we haven't much confidence that you," "Stop that, no reflection on me," Mr. Curtis demanded.

"That your body will put these demands in effect," Reynolds finished.

Reynolds said he intended to "go back and say to the workers that our message has been delivered."

"Your petition will be delivered; goodbye," said the vice president.

At the house end of the capitol, Garner walked out of his office to meet the visitors. The spokesman for the latter said:

"We request an opportunity for representatives of the unemployed to present their demands before congress. We represent the 3,000 who came here. The previous congress and those who make it up do not justify any confidence that this program will be acted on. But we feel that in its presentation at least we have represented their views."

"We would like some statement from you that we could carry back to their misery—some cash relief this winter and unemployment insurance."

"I'll take it under consideration. That is all I ever do when people present a plea, whether they be hunger marchers, senators, or farmers..."

Chief Points in Message

Washington —(P)—Here are the major proposals which President Hoover laid before congress today for restoring economic equilibrium:

A special manufacturers' sales tax to cover practically all manufacturers at a uniform rate, except necessary food and possibly some grades of clothing.

Widespread reforms of the banking system as one of the "first requisites for further recovery."

Sweeping reorganization of the government, with re-grouping and consolidating of more than 50 federal departments and agencies.

A flat 11 per cent pay cut for federal employees, with a $1,000 exemption, in addition to the present 8 1-3 reduction under the furlough system.

Curtailment of expenditures for public works from $717,262,000 to $442,769,000.

Elimination of certain payments to veterans arising from "ill-considered legislation."

Reductions in appropriations under those for the present fiscal year of $830,000,000, offset in part by increases of $250,000,000 in "uncontrollable items."

Hoover Planning Special Message On Debt Problem

Washington —(P)—Simultaneous with a reiteration in his annual message to congress that European war debt payments due Dec. 15 should be met, President Hoover today made known through one of his secretaries that he would send a special message to congress upon the debt problem.

Theodore Joslin of the White House secretariat called newspapermen to his office, adjoining that of the president, to tell them orally:

Negotiations are still being conducted concerning the war debt problem. There is no doubt that the president will send to congress a supplementary communication when these negotiations are completed.

He declined to amplify this statement, or give indication when the message might be expected.

U. S. Receives 2 More Debt Notes

Belgium and Czechoslovakia Send Pleas for Additional Delays

Brussels —(P)—Belgium sent another note to Washington today concerning the country's debt to the United States. The text was not made public.

Washington —(P)—Into the stir of congressional discussion of war debts today was thrust the second appeal of Czechoslovakia for relief from Dec. 15 payments.

Amplifying its first note to this government, a communication handed to Secretary Stimson by the Czechoslovakian minister said that country cannot meet the forthcoming instalments "without endangering her present economic and financial structure."

A warning that American trade would suffer if the United States failed to extend the moratorium was included.

"The tendency to restrict importation," the note received yesterday said, "will fatally, spontaneously and immediately be imposed on nations importing from the United States in order to correct and counteract the menacing adverse trade balance, and in this vicious circle the volume of international trade will again be diminished, creating further unemployment, which is the most distressing and ominous phenomenon of the present crisis."

Great Britain and France also have made two appeals for suspension of Dec. 15 payments, but no prospect for such relief is seen by congressional leaders.

Payment of $1,500,000 on principal is due then from Czechoslovakia.

Over $600,000 Saved By Probation System

Green Bay —(P)—Wisconsin taxpayers were saved more than $600,000 by operation of the probation system from July 1, 1930, to July 1, 1932, according to figures given out at the meeting of state parole and probation officers, held at the Wisconsin State reformatory here.

This total is arrived at through a analysis of the biennial expenses. Cost of operating the department is given as $140,506.75. The average number of probationers under its direction during this period was 1,347, making their average per capita cost a week $1.08.

During the same period, the average number in prisons and reformatories was 2,385, maintained at an average cost of $5.75 per week. Thus, the average saving for each probationer over the two-year period would be $4.67 per week, or a grand total of $603,700.14.

DIES OF BLOOD POISONING

Milwaukee —(P)—A 12-year-old girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rogowski, died at a hospital here yesterday of blood poisoning which, doctors said, resulted from scratching a pimple on her face.

Resolution for Repeal Returned To Senate Group

House Opens Way for Hearings Tomorrow On Beer Bill

Washington —(P)—The senate today referred back to its judiciary committee the Glass resolution proposing repeal of the 18th amendment and substituting a ban against the saloon.

This had been suggested as the probable vehicle for early prohibition debate promised in the senate, where both the Republican and Democratic leaders agreed today that the issue will certainly be threshed out this session.

In the house, meanwhile, Chairman Collier opened the way for hearings tomorrow on a beer bill by sponsoring a measure allowing modification of the Volstead act.

Referring of the Glass resolution to committee was the first legislative action of the senate this session, and came at conclusion of the reading of President Hoover's annual message.

The senate gave unanimous consent to the move at the request of Senator Glass (D., Va.) after he said he had received "reasonable assurance" the judiciary committee would give "prompt attention" to the legislation and report on it.

It was on the Glass resolution at the end of the last session that there was recorded for the first time a vote on the question of considering prohibition repeal.

The resolution proposes to repeal the amendment and substitute a provision in the constitution making it illegal to sell liquor in saloons, but permitting its sale in hotels and restaurants.

It also would provide for protection of dry states from the invasion of liquor from wet commonwealths.

Principal points in the Collier bill to modify the Volstead law: Permit manufacture and sale of beer, lager beer, ale and porter containing 2.75 per cent alcohol by weight.

Reduces the present tax of $6 a barrel of 31 gallons passed during the World war period to $5 a barrel.

Permits sale of non-intoxicating vinous liquors made by natural fermentation of grape juice, and imposes a tax of 20 cents a gallon, the same as under existing law, for wines of less than 14 per cent alcohol.

Permits sale of beer in bottles and barrels.

Protects dry states from shipments of interstate character.

Provides penalties for violations in accordance with existing laws. Takes effect within 30 days after enactment.

Italy Preparing to Pay Debt Installment

Rome —(P)—Premier Mussolini disregarded the postponement action of other debtor nations today, when he decided Italy would pay the $1,245,000 due the United States Dec. 15.

The supreme council of Fascism recommended the action—and it is tantamount to definite decision—after the premier himself had addressed the body.

Mussolini joined the other debtors, however, in insisting on debt revisions, adhering to the oft-voiced Fascist policy that the war debt slate should be wiped clean.

Von Schleicher Faces New German Reichstag

Berlin —(P)—General Kurt von Schleicher, appointed chancellor of Germany yesterday, faced the new Reichstag in the first test of his authority this afternoon.

In his pocket was a decree of dissolution signed by President von Hindenburg, his ace in the hole if the hostile politicians should get out of hand.

The aged General Karl Litzmann, now 82 and the oldest member of the house, was temporary speaker. He is a National Socialist, one of Adolf Hitler's men.

Three Great Necessities Are Mapped Out by Chief Executive

IGNORES DRY LAW "Acute Phases of Crisis Have Obviously Passed," He Says

Washington —(P)—A blanketing manufacturers' sales tax covering virtually everything but food, and an additional 11 per cent pay cut for federal employees was recommended to congress today by President Hoover.

In his final message, which did not touch upon the agitated prohibition question, the chief executive asserted three separate efforts to be "necessary foundation to any other action"—balancing the budget, complete reorganization of the nation's banking system, and "wholehearted cooperation with other nations in the economic field."

As for the present state of the Union, he said that "the acute phases of the crisis have obviously passed," and that the freedom from industrial conflict was greater than hitherto known.

"While we have recently engaged in the aggressive contest of a national election," he added, "its very tranquility and the acceptance of its results furnish abundant proof of the strength of our institutions."

In addition to the manufacturers' sales tax at a "uniform" but unspecified rate, here are some of his far-flung proposals for securing the balanced budget which he termed necessary to "fully restore confidence in the future."

Would Merge Agencies
Widespread reorganization of the federal government, with exclusive orders to be submitted "within a few days" for regrouping and consolidating more than 50 federal departments and agencies.

China, Japan Present Cases Before League

Tokio Announced at Aggressor—Replies Occupation Was Self-Defense

Geneva.—(7)—China called on the assembly of the league of nations today to denounce Japan as the aggressor in Manchuria, and Japan replied that the military occupation of that vast province was an act of self-defense.

Addressing the assembly, which had constituted itself into the role of a prosecuting council, W. W. Yen spoke for China. He declared Japan had "trampled upon the most sacred of the principles that govern international relations, and flouted the authority of the league."

Yosuke Matsuoka, the special counsel, spoke for Japan. He challenged the findings of the Lytton commission which investigated Manchurian affairs for the league.

"That we acted in self-defense," he said, "is clear and warranted." Matsuoka protested against the Chinese boycott as a hindrance to the promotion of international peace and cooperation.

He went back into an effort of the last ten years in an effort to show the Chinese have been provocative and hostile toward the Japanese.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, Premier Herriot of France, Foreign Minister Konstantin von Neurath of Germany, and Norman Davis of the United States were present to hear the charge and counter charge.

Chinese Accusation

Dr. Yen pointed to the Lytton report, which was before the assembly and declared: "Japan deliberately and without provocation seized the three eastern provinces (Manchuria) by both military force and political intrigue, not only in defiance of the authority of the league but also in violation of the provisions of the covenant, the pact of Paris, and the nine-power treaty of Washington in the particular provisions guaranteeing territorial and administrative integrity for China and enjoining the signatories to refrain from resorting to force for the settlement of international differences."

Dr. Yen asserted that Japan's attitude toward the league's efforts at settlement is "to propose conciliation, if you please, but to touch not Manchukuo." The Chinese outlined what he considered the league's judgment should be.

First he said, the assembly should declare that Japan had violated the league covenant, the pact of Paris, and the nine-power treaty; second, that the assembly should call upon Japan to execute forthwith council resolutions, so that all Japanese troops shall be withdrawn into the (South Manchuria) railway zone and that the so-called Manchukuo government be dissolved; and third that the assembly, pending dissolution of Manchukuo, pledge itself not to recognize any situation, treaty or agreement, which may be brought about by means contrary to the covenant or the pact of Paris, and declare it will not recognize Manchukuo or enter into any relations with it; that the assembly make and publish before a definite date and within the shortest possible time, a report for final settlement of the dispute as prescribed in Article XV, Paragraph 4, of the covenant. (Article XV provides for arbitration of disputes).

Mr. Matsuoka missed none of the arguments which have become familiar in this long dispute.

The real cause of the trouble in the east, he said, is "a lack of cohesion between the realities in China and the aspirations of the modern Chinese," and the cure for that is assistance of China by the league in her logical progress, particularly in the stabilization of her foreign relations.

As for Manchukuo, the Japanese government cannot be held responsible for its independence, he said, declaring that, "it is one thing to say that some officials interested themselves in an autonomy movement, and quite another to charge that the Japanese government is responsible for abetting the independence movement."

Approve New Bus Line to Sheboygan

Appleton Man to Put New Schedule Into Effect After Jan. 1

Establishment of a motor bus line for carriage of passengers between Sheboygan and Appleton by Roy Vandenberg of this city was approved yesterday by the Wisconsin Public Service commission, according to word received here today. The commission found that public convenience and necessity required the line.

Mr. Vandenberg proposes to run two buses daily between Appleton and Sheboygan after Jan. 1, 1933, when the Wisconsin Motor Bus Co., Milwaukee, abandons its line between the two cities. At the present time Vandenberg is employed by that company.

Only one bus now operates between Sheboygan and Appleton, leaving this city daily at 8:10 in the morning. After Jan. 1, Vandenberg intends to provide two daily trips, the bus leaving here at 8:10 in the morning and 3:10 in the afternoon.

RAIL OFFICIAL HERE

F. A. Pontious, Chicago, supervisor of demurrage and storage for the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, was in this city yesterday conferring with W. B. Basing, Appleton agent. Mr. Pontious also is visiting agents in other Fox river valley cities.

Many Vocations Listed For Badger Lawmakers

Madison.—(7)—The 1933 state legislature will be representative not only of the voting population but nearly all the walks of life in which men and women earn their livelihood.

Farmers and lawyers predominate in both the senate and assembly but a score or more of other professions, businesses and jobs are represented.

The official publication of the roster of state officers, congressmen and legislators was issued Friday.

State Beekkeepers Meet at Madison December 8 and 9

Delegates Will Hear Speaker From Federal Department; Discuss Marketing

Outagamie-co beekkeepers are expected to be represented at the fifty-fourth annual convention of the Wisconsin State Beekkeepers' association at Madison this week, according to Gustave A. Sell, county agent. The convention will be in session Dec. 8 and 9.

One of the serious problems which confronts Wisconsin beekkeepers at this time is the low price of honey which prevails in spite of the short crop. The matter of honey marketing, and suggestions for the improvement of honey prices will be thoroughly discussed at the meeting.

The 1932 honey crop in Wisconsin has been estimated at about 40 per cent normal, due to continuous drought conditions which seriously injured the honey plants of the state.

A meeting of the board of managers, consisting of one delegate from each affiliated local association, will be held Wednesday night, Dec. 7, preceding the opening of the convention to discuss problems which will later be put to the convention for action.

A "honey" banquet and social meeting will be held Thursday night, Dec. 8, at the Simons hotel. Entertainment and music will be furnished by Harry Lathrop, Bridgeport, Wis., and the Sauk County Beekkeepers' association, with A. L. Kleeber, Reedsburg, acting as toastmaster.

The convention sessions will be held in the senate chamber of the state capitol, and out of state speakers include J. I. Hambleton, chief of the U. S. Bee Culture Laboratory, Washington, and Mrs. Mildred Day of the home economics department, Kellogg company, Battle Creek, Mich.

4th Heating Lecture Set for Wednesday

The fourth of a series of lectures on "Heating and Ventilating" will be given by C. L. Dean of the University of Wisconsin in Appleton vocational school auditorium at 7:30 Wednesday evening. Thus far 35 people have enrolled for the course, and five more are expected to join before Wednesday night. The course is designed for janitors, engineers, and firemen of schools, churches and other public buildings.

Farmer Yields After Gunfight

shoot it out to show that the farmer has his rights." He had repeatedly said he would be a pioneer in the movement to stop foreclosures on farm property.

Saturday Sheriff Mason and Undersheriff Charles Shager went to the farm with a third writ and met the same challenge. The sheriff said he offered Cichon $1,000 of his own money if he would vacate without resistance, warning that he would have to use force to eject him. But the farmer was adamant and the sheriff laid his plans to "shoot it out" this morning.

A force of 25 men was mobilized from Wattewater, Delavan, and Elkhorn during the night, brought to the sheriff's office here and armed with 45 calibre rifles and machine guns. The sheriff took every precaution of modern warfare, including the setting up of an emergency telephone on a post a quarter of a mile from the Cichon farm.

About 2 a. m. the deputies advanced on the house. Under cover of darkness they barricaded themselves behind trees, automobiles and buildings, taking positions north and west of the house. Shortly before daylight the sheriff telephoned Cichon and offered him a chance to surrender peacefully, but the farmer refused, saying, "while there's a life in my body, I won't come out."

At daylight the firing began. Cichon made one dash from the house to the barn to get a gun and raced back to the house again amid a burst of bullets. His wife took up a position at one of the windows and he at another, refusing to submit until the house was perforated.

Deputy Officers

Sheriff Mason, directing the firing and commanding his men through a megaphone, called once to Cichon to surrender. The farmer stuck his head out and shouted: "Why should I come out? Come and get me." This tally drew another blast of bullets. Soon afterwards, however, the farmer came out, holding his hands in the air. He was handcuffed and taken to jail.

Mrs. Cichon and the children were taken to the Walworth County hospital, where Virginia and Max had recently undergone a tonsil operation. Cichon as late as yesterday refused to let the children be moved from the house, although he

Church Members Face Busy Time Before Holidays

Christmas Bazaars, Trustee Meetings Scheduled For Week

With the calendar crowded with first-of-the-month meetings, Christmas bazaars, and trustee meetings, churchgoers have a busy week ahead of them.

The first vesper program at the Methodist church, Christmas music by the combined choirs, will be given next Sunday afternoon. In the morning new members will be received into the church. The Social Union selected new captains Tuesday afternoon. The Argory club will meet Tuesday evening, and the Women's Foreign Missionary society will hold its Christmas party Friday afternoon. After speeches by Dr. H. M. Wriston, George W. Jones, president of the board of trustees, and E. A. Dettman, stewardship director, Sunday afternoon, 40 laymen started the annual every member canvass. Reports will be made at a quarterly conference to be conducted by Dr. Charles A. Briggs at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Preaching on The Modern Trend Sunday morning, Dr. J. A. Holmes stated that the depression had done worse things than deprive people of their money, that it had taken away poise and in a great many cases wisdom. He said that people are resorting to a terrible selfishness, the principles of the survival of the fittest, the law of the pack. He asked his congregation what their religion meant to them, a duty performed, or a moral reserve within themselves that no outside influence could crash. If there has ever been a time when one should exemplify the spirit of Christ, it is now, he declared.

Heads Congregation

E. H. Mueller was elected president of the Mount Olive Lutheran congregation at the annual election of officers held Sunday afternoon. The Rev. H. E. Ziesemer preached Sunday morning on Come Thou and All Thy House into the Ark, and Wednesday evening, at an Advent service his subject will be Jesus, the Promised Messiah.

Members of All Saints Episcopal church are practicing for three special Christmas services to be given during Christmas week. On Thursday evening, Dec. 22, the Sunday school class taught by Miss Linda Hollenbeck will present the pageant, "The Nativity." The combined choirs will sing Gounod's Christmas music at the Christmas eve midnight service, and on Sunday afternoon the Young People's Fellowship, under the direction of Mrs. Harwood Surtevant, will give the Feast of Lights. Dr. L. D. Utts preached Sunday morning on Known in Adversities, pointing out that the Saviour is just as close to people during adversity as during prosperity. Holy Communion was administered.

The Feast of the Immaculate Conception will be observed in all Catholic churches Thursday. The Church General of all Notre Dame school sisters is making an inspection of Appleton this week.

Preaches On Abstinence

Total Abstinence day was held at the Congregational church Sunday, with Dr. H. E. Peabody preaching on Total Abstinence. Pledge cards were distributed. In the afternoon an organ recital was presented by LaVahn Maesch. The annual bazaar was presented by LaVahn Maesch. The annual bazaar was held Tuesday, and the Church School teachers will meet Tuesday evening. Dr. H. E. Peabody conducted a service at Seymour Monday morning.

The Rev. R. A. Garrison preached Sunday morning at Memorial Presbyterian church on The Consolation. The Ladies Aid met Tuesday afternoon, and Dr. J. R. Denyes will continue his series of Bible lectures Thursday evening.

The board of trustees of St. Paul church will meet Wednesday evening, and the church school teachers will meet Tuesday evening. Dr. H. E. Peabody conducted a service at Seymour Monday morning.

The Rev. R. A. Garrison preached Sunday morning at Memorial Presbyterian church on The Consolation. The Ladies Aid met Tuesday afternoon, and Dr. J. R. Denyes will continue his series of Bible lectures Thursday evening.

Hold Man Charged With Possession Of Stolen Goods

Gilbert Ahrens Arrested After Report of Attempted Car Theft

Police this morning were holding Gilbert Ahrens, 24, Y. M. C. A., pending his arraignment in municipal court on a charge of concealing stolen property. Ahrens was arrested about 2 o'clock this morning on W. College-ave when he was picked up on suspicion by Lieutenant Herbert Kapp and Sergeant John Duval, who were seeking a man caught in an attempt to steal a car sometime previous.

Ahrens fitted the description of the man who was caught by Martin Verhagen, 117 S. Appleton-st., while attempting to drive away with the latter's car which was parked on S. Appleton-st. Verhagen told the police the man claimed his own car had been stolen and that he mistook Verhagen's car for his own. Verhagen notified the police and gave a description of Ahrens.

Police searched Ahrens' room at the Y. M. C. A., where they discovered considerable clothing that had been stolen last Friday night from Clayton Brock, Chicago. Brock, a graduate at Lawrence college last year, came to Appleton last Friday night and registered at the Y. M. C. A. When he returned to his room later in the evening his suitcase and clothing was missing.

Early Saturday morning a man giving the name of Robert Horton, Walter hotel, walked into the police station with Brock's suitcase, said he had found it on the highway between Kimberly and Appleton. When arrested last night Ahrens was identified as Horton, police said.

Police also found a woman's purse in Ahrens' room. The purse is of black leather and contained another smaller purse and a small gold crucifix. Police are seeking the owner.

Police Chief George T. Prim said that Ahrens has a previous record. In 1929 he was arrested here for larceny and sentenced to the county jail for six months. In 1930 he was arrested at Green Bay for the theft of a truck and sentenced to 18 months. He served that time and was released last March.

Ahrens, Chief Prim said, was to be taken to court this afternoon.

the corpses of the officers and men who manned her when she left the Kure naval base in a main island group at Japan Sunday.

As the navy department swung into action today, more than a dozen craft were either at the scene of the disaster or on the way. The exact location of the wreck was placed at 122 east longitude and 27 north latitude.

Small hopes were held, however, that any more of the crew would be picked up alive.

High naval officers studied reports of the disaster as the day wore on and were gradually evolving a theory as to why the sister ships suffered comparatively little damage while the Sawarabi itself got into difficulties shortly after the storm struck.

Some were of the belief that the vessel had developed structural defects or a "faulty condition" of some other nature.

Reports indicated the Sawarabi was plunging head-on into the waves. It was believed possible water had poured in through the funnels and deluged the engine rooms. This would have rendered the craft helpless.

Note Big Decrease in City Water Consumption

There was a decrease of 13,114,000 gallons of water consumed in Appleton last month compared with the same period last year, according to W. U. Gallaher, superintendent of the city pumping station and filtration plant. Last month 60,336,000 gallons were consumed compared to 63,450,000 gallons in the same period of 1931.

Approximately 1,194,000 gallons of water were used to wash filters last month compared to 1,583,000 gallons in November, 1931. The percentage of wash water used last month, compared to the total amount pumped for the month was 2.7. In November, 1931, the percentage of wash water aggregated 2.4.

Diesel oil engines—last month pumped 48,076,000 gallons compared to 61,120,000 in November, 1931. Electric auxiliary units pumped 1,980,000 gallons compared to 2,330,000 in the same period of last year. Last month the new oil gasoline engines pumped 280,000 gallons. These units were not used last year.

Fuel oil used at the plant last month totaled 4,311 gallons, compared to 4,647 gallons in November, 1931.

50 Make Reservations For Forum Dinner Meet

Approximately 50 reservations already have been received for the first of a series of forum dinner meetings sponsored here by Appleton Chamber of Commerce at Conway hotel Thursday noon. The speaker for the first meeting will be Claude O. Ebling, Rhinelander, official of the Soo Line Railway Co. The topic of his address will be "Where Are We Going?"

Seek Lower Rate For Newsprint

Railroads Ask Commission To Modify Decision Of 1922

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)

Washington.—In an effort to reduce newsprint freight rates from the Fox river valley and related territory without reducing printing and writing paper, various railroads of that section are asking the Interstate Commerce commission to modify the Minnesota-Ontario decision of 1922 which established the present rate relationship between different papers.

Railroads which carry newsprint from northern Pacific coast mills to Colorado and Wyoming points have recently reduced their rates to 63 cents per 100 pounds. Now the Great Northern, the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific, the Northern Pacific, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie and the Chicago and Northwestern railroads want to establish the same rate from the Ontario-Manitoba district, and differentially related rates from Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan.

However, they do not wish to reduce rates on printing and writing paper. Under the 1922 decision, all paper rates are related and reduction in one variety necessitates reduction in the others.

The proposed reduction in Fox river and northern Wisconsin newsprint rates is from 67 1/2 cents to 61 1/2 cents per 100 pounds.

Plum Pudding — a holiday dessert in the best Christmas tradition. Try it this year—it's delightful. The recipe is a tested and approved one from our home economics department. Clip it out and save it.

Plum Pudding

- | | |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------|
| 1 lb. currants | 1/2 lb. brown sugar |
| 1 lb. raisins | 1 teaspoon nutmeg |
| 1/2 lb. candied orange peel | 1 tablespoon cinnamon |
| 1/2 lb. citron | 3/4 teaspoon cloves |
| 1/2 lb. chopped suet | 3/4 tablespoon allspice |
| 1/2 lb. dry bread crumbs | 8 eggs |
| 1/2 lb. flour | 1 cup grapejuice |

Method

Wash and dry the currants. Cut citron very fine, also the orange peel. Mix all dry ingredients together. Beat eggs, pour them over dry ingredients, add the grapejuice and mix thoroughly. Pack into well-greased molds and steam 4 hours. This will keep a long time. Re-heat before serving. Serve with whipped cream or any desired pudding sauce. The following sauce is good: 1/2 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup water, dash of nutmeg, large lump of butter. Boil 1 minute.

Allotments of Taxes Mailed Out by Clerk

Payments for Every Unit In County Reduced For 1933

County tax allotments were mailed out yesterday from the office of John E. Hantschel county clerk to the towns, cities and villages of Outagamie-co. Mr. Hantschel and his staff worked during the week-end to complete them, as they could not be made until the county board had set the budget, which it did at its closing session late Saturday afternoon.

In every case the municipalities will pay less county taxes in 1933 than they did in 1932. This is due to the fact that the county board reduced its tax levy from $530,469.25 for 1932 to $422,047.57 for 1933. The reductions were brought about by cutting the highway department budget by more than $50,000; slashing $10,000 from the general fund; eliminating the $10,000 aid to fairs, bands and associations; and by transferring $30,000 from the courthouse trust fund to the general fund. This sum, however, must be returned by 1933.

Appleton's share of the county taxes is cut about $49,000 from $223,868.50 to $174,664.22. Kaukauna's tax was cut from $43,220.01 to $34,545.78. The smallest tax is paid by the village of Bear Creek, $1,219.32. Last year Bear Creek paid $1,404.81.

Following is a table showing the amount of taxes to be paid by each district next year as compared with what was paid this year:

See Big Income in Harvest of Wood

Farmers Could Increase Buying Power, Bordner Says

Madison — From three and a half to four million dollars can be added to the buying of Wisconsin farmers by the harvest of ten short-length cords of wood per farm says John S. Bordner, in charge of the land economic inventory for the department of agriculture and markets. The wood can be sold for cash or to help buy groceries, clothes and shoes.

Many woodlots have additional fuel which can be harvested this winter and will improve the woodlots by the removal of defective and dying trees. In many cases considerably more than ten cords per farm could be harvested without impairing the value of the farm woodlot, Mr. Bordner says.

The census of 1930 reports approximately 182,000 farms in Wisconsin and the average size of these farms is 120 acres. Nearly one-half of the total area of these farms is crop land and about one-fourth is woodland of which at least 75 per cent is pastured. Since the buying power of the production of the crop is now the lowest in history, it is well to consider whether the farmer's woodlot can contribute any buying power this winter to supplement the limited buying power of the crop land.

Short length wood adapts itself nicely as a substitute for coal and those who must buy fuel can do much in creating a market for fuel wood. Many farmers will be too busy to clean up their surplus fuel wood and the additional help which they will require will furnish work for needy men in nearby villages and towns who can thus help to provide fuel for their own homes.

Get Up Nights?
Make This 25c Test—
Use this easy bladder physio to drive out impurities and excess acids which cause irritation that results in leg pains, backache, burning and getting up nights. BUKETS, the bladder physio, containing buchu, juniper oil, etc., works on the bladder pleasantly and effectively, similar to castor oil on the bowels. Get a 25c box (3 grain size) from your druggist. After four days, if not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. You are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep.

Reduce Rates on Airplane Express

Company Believes Reductions Will Contribute to Business Recovery

That the reduction of air-express rates announced last week by the Railway Express Agency will be a contributing factor in the trend towards business recovery in the belief of W. N. Kimball, Appleton agent of the express company.

This lowering of the cost of sending express shipments by air represents reductions of from 15 to 30 per cent from rates in effect during the past year and is the fourth reduction made since the air service was established six years ago, according to Mr. Kimball.

In addition to lower rate schedules, fractional weights of three ounces or less are discounted. Under the provisions of the new tariff fractional weights of four to 12 12 ounces, inclusive, will be treated as one-half pound, and fractional weights over 12 ounces are to be treated as a full pound, he says.

Music Fundamentals
Described by Baker

A talk on the underlying fundamentals of musicianship was given by Earl L. Baker, professor of public school music, before the Lawrence college students at convocation Monday morning in Lawrence Memorial chapel. He demonstrated various points of his speech with singing by a number of sixth grade students of local schools.

He told the students to judge an artist on his musicianship and explained how this can be done. The average person should be able to distinguish between good and bad music, he said.

He demonstrated intonation, tone, phrasing, diction and mood. The sixth grade singers sang numbers in which Dr. Baker showed how they could be detected in music.

$620,000 Cut From Tax Levy In Three Years

High Mark Reached in 1930 When County Budget Reached $1,000,000

The Outagamie-co board has slashed the tax levy a total of $620,000 since 1930, records at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk, show.

Closing its session last Saturday, the board set the 1933 tax levy at $422,047.57 as compared to the peak of $1,000,000 in 1930. In 1931, about this reduction, the board cut $267,000 from its levy in 1931 when the total was $801,925, and $240,000 from the 1932 levy, when the total was $561,925. This November the board slashed off another $107,000, bringing the levy to $422,047.57. This is the lowest levy set for this county since 1918, when it was $411,891.25.

A number of factors entered into the tax picture in 1930, causing the big budget. Among these were the necessity of raising $212,000 in state taxes; $23,000 for the courthouse trust fund; $52,000 for snow removal machinery; $65,000 to wipe out a machinery fund deficit; $75,000 for construction; $27,000 for the Outagamie fund to wipe out a deficit in the general fund to replace money used for snow removal the previous winter; $112,000 for payment of bonds; and $40,000 for the Kaukauna bridge. The bridge cost $100,000, of which the county paid $60,000 by issuing bonds. The county also raised the extra $40,000, which was the city of Kaukauna's share, and this amount later was returned to the county by the city.

$240,000 Slashed Off
When the board met in November, 1930, to raise the taxes for 1931, however, a determined group of supervisors got busy and determined that a cut of at least $200,000 would be made. "How well they fought their battle," the county clerk said, "is evidenced by the fact that the budget for 1931 was set at $801,925.38, a reduction of $240,000. This was brought about by the fact that the many items included in the previous years' budget were eliminated. Among these were the machinery and general fund deficits.

Another $50,000 was saved by the fact that about $25,000 was raised by the sale of surplus property, and compared to $75,000 the previous year. The board also refused to place $25,000 in the courthouse trust fund, despite a long battle led by Supervisor T. H. Ryan in behalf of the fund. The board that year did not need to raise the $40,000 for the Kaukauna bridge.

The same group of supervisors, fighting for economy, had enlarged the following year when the board met in November, 1931, to set the 1932 budget, and when that hectic session was over they had succeeded in chopping another $270,000 from the budget, bringing it down to $529,173.

Continued Paring
The economy group last year was assisted by the fact that no state tax for common schools and no state tax for forestry purposes were collected. These two taxes amounted to more than $92,000 the previous year. The supervisors also were aided when the state assumed the burden of snow removal on state and federal roads. This eliminated the necessity of an appropriation of $25,000 for snow removal and another $25,000 for snow removal machinery. Thus these two items saved another $50,000.

After a manner the state also was responsible that year for the saving of another $55,000. The economy group demanded that, the county be permitted to use some of its state aid funds for paying off bonds instead of for new construction. This law was examined and this was found to be a legal procedure and the full amount available for the purpose was used. Thus another $55,000 saving resulted. That year the board also cut the highway tax from two mills to one and reduced the amount it asked from $175,000 to $149,000, another saving of $56,000.

This year, when the board met with the determination to make still further cuts, they were at a loss to know where to begin. But they finally found ways and means which resulted in a net reduction of $107,000. This was partly brought about by the fact that $38,000 was taken from the courthouse trust fund to be replaced in small amounts by the end of 1933. The board also slashed the highway budget by $25,000 to $66,000 from the committee. This figure of $66,000 is more than $50,000 under the $119,000 raised in 1932. Another saving of $10,000 resulted in cutting out aid to fairs, bands and associations and $10,000 more was saved by cutting that amount from the general fund.

Too Soon President of Benevolent Society

Martin Toonen was elected president of St. Joseph Benevolent society at the meeting Sunday afternoon at St. Joseph hall. George Hoelzel was chosen vice president. Oscar Dorn was named recording secretary, and Mortiz Hanemann was elected financial secretary. Joseph Tennie will be treasurer of the organization and Leonard Jacobs will act as trustee for three years. New officers will be installed at the first meeting in January. Fifty members attended Sunday's meeting.

Agent of Badger Department Makes Bird Feed Survey

Gigsted to Make Thorough Study of Conditions At Ellington

W. K. Gigsted, an employee of the state conservation department, is spending several days in this vicinity making a survey of the cover and feed conditions for upland game birds on the Ellington refuge, as a preliminary to a systematic campaign for improving and restoring these conditions. The Ellington refuge, which lies just east of the village of Stephentown and covers some 1,400 acres, was established by the Outagamie Fish and Game Protective association last year. It lies just outside of the Wolf river bottomlands and at one time was considered one of the best hunting areas in the county. It was selected for refuge purposes because it was believed that a systematic stocking program would be likely to bring back a good stand of game birds within its limits and that they would spread out from there and restock the surrounding territory.

Experience during the past year has demonstrated, however, that the intensive shooting done here was the only cause of the disappearance of game. Comparatively few of the birds raised and released on the refuge have remained within its borders and a study of food and cover conditions has shown that these had been so greatly reduced by advancing encroachments of cultivation that there is not sufficient of either to provide for a greater number of birds.

Prepares Map
The problem was put to the conservation department, which responded by sending Mr. Gigsted to Appleton to make a survey of conditions. This will include preparation of a map showing existing cover and feed and indicating places where new cover and feed spots can be established most easily. These will always be so located as to require a minimum of labor and no sacrifice of agricultural lands. As soon as the survey and the map have been completed, a meeting of farmers and sportsmen will be called, probably at Stephentown, at which the plan will be explained in detail and the cooperation of everybody sought to the end that it may be carried through to a successful termination.

Cold Wave Scheduled For Tonight, Wednesday

A cold wave, sweeping across the northwestern part of the country, is due to arrive here tonight or Wednesday, according to the daily forecast of the weatherman. His predictions read as follows: "Generally fair in northwest, snow in east and south portions tonight; Wednesday generally fair, preceder in extreme east, colder flurries in extreme east, colder tonight and Wednesday; cold wave." Snow has been forecast for most of the upper lake regions tonight and Wednesday. Winds are shifting from the south and southwest to the northwest. At 6 o'clock Tuesday morning the mercury registered 32 degrees above zero and at noon it registered 36 degrees above zero.

Burn Silks to Detect Weighting of Material

"I know that weighted silk does not wear well, but how can I tell whether or not the silk I buy is weighted?"
In answer to this question which recently came to the home economics department at the University of Wisconsin, Mrs. Julia F. Nofske, of the textiles division, replies that the tests to detect weighting are very simple.
"Ask for a sample of the silk. Then take it home, or to some secluded part of the store, and put a match to it. If it crumples during the burning and is almost entirely consumed, you may be sure it is not weighted.
"If the silk is weighed, it will burn with a glow and become brittle but it will hold its shape almost entirely unchanged.
"Or you may crush the material in the hand and rub a fingernail diagonally across it. If it crumples and wrinkles, or if threads loosen or spread when the fingernail is drawn across it the silk is not likely to give satisfactory wear."

Start Inquest in Death of Aged Man Struck by Auto

Coroner's Jury to Hear Testimony at City Hall Wednesday Morning

An inquest was called yesterday afternoon by Stanley A. Stalf, district attorney, and Dr. H. E. Ellsworth, coroner, into the death of Edwin A. Lyman, 70, 617 N. Appleton-st., who was fatally injured shortly after midnight Saturday when he was struck by a car driven by A. E. Parnell, 433 W. Prospect-ave. Lyman died at St. Elizabeth hospital Monday morning from injuries received when he was hit by Parnell's car. Both his arms were broken, several ribs on his left side were broken, and he suffered internal injuries.

After viewing the body late yesterday afternoon the inquest was adjourned until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, when testimony of witnesses will be heard at the city hall. Members of the coroner's jury are: E. L. Williams, Earl Lutz, Frank Neuman, L. C. Jens, Charles Rumpf and Joseph Langenberg. Lyman, a night watchman at the Appleton Machine company, was crossing the street to one of the buildings of the firm when he was hit. He avoided one car only to be struck by Parnell's machine, according to Police Chief George T. Prim. Parnell took the man to the hospital and then went to the police station to report. A checkup there revealed he was driving a car without a proper license and he was taken into court Monday morning, where he admitted this offense and was fined $10 and costs.

It Is Said--

That at the most important council meeting of the year the audience was conspicuously absent. While most of any other subject will bring scores of citizens to the council chambers, the mere matter of adopting an $875,000 budget and setting the tax rate for 1933 attracted no one.

Edison P. T. A. Will Meet This Evening

J. E. Hanson of the department of visual education of the University Extension bureau will present several educational films at the meeting of the Edison Parent Teachers association Tuesday evening. Christmas carols will be sung.

$18 Tax Rate Is Fixed by Council

highways was $17,906, but with the 20 per cent reduction recently announced by the state, Appleton probably will receive only $14,400 next year. The automobile gas tax is expected to drop from $37,134 to $29,600. The city's return on its equity in the water works, which this year brought $61,266, is estimated to bring $64,482 next year. Special taxes, already levied, will bring $39,191, while this year only $11,500 was received in special taxes.

The budget for general-city purposes for next year is $434,350, about $8,700 less than the estimated cost for 1932, and $184,788 less than the actual expenditure for 1932, which was $619,088.

Less For Streets

Large decreases were voted for street sewer repairs and maintenance, street widening, street cleaning, bands, celebrations, and conventions.

Last year $5,000 was placed in the budget for storm sewers, but $60,161 actually was spent, chiefly in an attempt to relieve the unemployment situation. Next year's budget contains only $500 for storm sewers, and only $2,500 for sanitary sewers, while last year $15,000 was placed in the budget.

Next years the street department will be expected to pay no more than $25,000 for street repairs and maintenance. The 1932 budget estimated $30,000 for this work, but

Schedule Anti-Toxin Treatment at Schools

Toxin anti-toxin administration schedules for children at three Appleton schools were announced today by Miss Mary Orison, school nurse. The final administration for children at Edison school and for children of pre-school age in the district has been set for 9:30 Wednesday morning. On Thursday school children only at St. Theresa school, in the Sixth ward will receive the treatment. On Friday school children only at Sacred Heart school in the Fourth ward are to be treated.

Switch on New Lights Tonight

Ornamental System Tested, Found Ready for Operation

The new ornamental lights on Appleton, Superior and Washington-sts will be lighted for the first time this evening. They were tested this morning and will be ready for operation when the new lights in the city are turned on tonight. There are 55 new lights on the three streets. On Appleton-st they extend from Lawrence-st to the tracks, on Superior-st from College-ave to the tracks, and on Washington-st from the west line of the postoffice building to the east line of Hotel Northern. There is one pole missing on Superior-st, next to the Lutheran Aid building, where completion of the job was held up because this section of the street has not been widened. It is expected that this light will be installed after the street is widened next spring.

The new system was installed by Art-Killoren Electric company, at a contract price of $11,820. All unskilled labor was secured from the city's relief list. Tomorrow the Wisconsin Michigan Power company will begin the removal of the overhead system on Superior-st. The overhead wiring on Appleton-st has been removed.

Four Scout Troops to Hold Meetings Tonight

Valley council boy scout Troops 2, 8, 11 and 12 will hold their weekly meetings at 7:30 tonight in respective meeting quarters, according to scoutmasters. Troop 2 will meet at First Methodist Episcopal church; Troop 8, First Congregational church; Troop 11, McKinley Junior high school, and Troop 12, Roosevelt Junior high school.

$33,265 actually was spent. The council placed only $1,500 in the budget for widening and paving, as against $10,000 in the 1932 budget. Street cleaning for 1933 is estimated at $20,000, or $5,000 less than the amount estimated for 1932. The city's share of street oiling for 1933 is estimated at $1,000.

Vowing to hold to its determination to spend nothing on bands, celebrations and conventions next year, the council placed $250 in the budget for the observance of Memorial-day, making no provision for band concerts or any of the requests for aid for this and that celebration that inevitably come before the council each year. Last year $5,400 was set aside for these things, and $5,000 was spent.

No appropriations were made for supervised play, ornamental lights, new bridges, and the stock fair grounds. Rent on the old street department building is expected to maintain the fairgrounds.

Make Many Cuts

The mayor and aldermen will save $11,000 instead of $12,000, the city treasurer's department $4,200 instead of $5,000, the city clerk's department $4,100 instead of $4,500, the engineer's department $6,000 instead of $6,600, the plumbing inspector's department $1,700 instead of $1,900, the building inspector's department $2,100 instead of $2,200, the electrical inspector's department $50 instead of $100, and the health department $6,100 instead of $7,200. This cut means the elimination of the appropriation for the examination of school children for the coming year.

Court Orders New Trial in Action To Collect Bill

Reverses Decision Awarding Damages to Appleton Dentist

The state supreme court Tuesday reversed a decision of the circuit court here awarding Dr. C. L. Kolb damages of $274 plus costs, making a total of $364.08, in his suit against Mrs. Katherine Bergelin, wife of Henry A. Bergelin, and her attorney, in a case started after trial of the case. The case started after which Mrs. Bergelin contracted with Dr. Kolb for some dental work, part of which was the furnishing of false teeth plates. The work ordinarily was priced at $274, according to the testimony, but Dr. Kolb agreed on special terms of $250.

Claiming the results were not satisfactory and the teeth were not of good quality, Mrs. Bergelin later offered to settle for $100. Dr. Kolb refused. He sued for the full amount of $274. In the circuit court he was awarded that sum, plus costs, and the Bergelins appealed. The supreme court also reversed the decision of Judge Edgar V. Werner, presiding in circuit court at Antigo, in directing a verdict for Dr. E. Zellmer and ordered a new trial for the defendant, L. J. Schwartz, who was injured in an automobile accident in 1930 and went to Dr. Zellmer for treatment. He accused Dr. Zellmer of improper diagnosis and treatment and sued for damages. When Judge Werner directed a verdict against him he appealed.

The village of Niagara in Marinette-co lost its appeal to the supreme court to recover utility property taxes through a verdict in the town of Niagara. The high court upheld the decision of Circuit Judge A. F. Murphy from which the village appealed.

Erroneous Distribution
The suit was the result of erroneous apportionment made by the state tax commission. The disputed tax monies amounted to $7,020.30 and were collected in 1921, 1922 and 1923.

The record showed that the Peninsula Power company, which was the predecessor of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power company had extended its lines and poles into the village but in its reports to the tax commission stated only that the property was located in the town of Niagara.

Taxes collected on this portion of the company's property therefore were apportioned to the town. Village officers contended that they were not aware of these apportionments until 1925. They later brought an action before Judge A. F. Murphy to recover from the town. Counsel for the town filed a demurrer to have the action dismissed, contending that there was not sufficient legal cause to maintain it. Judge Murphy sustained the demurrer. He ruled that the village authorities knew of the existence of the Peninsula Power company's property within the village borders and upon the failure of the tax commission to certify the taxes to the village treasurer should have taken recourse to the law-permitting an appeal. This was not done within the required three year period, he held.

Large Crowd Packs Courtroom for Trial

A large crowd of farmers jammed the circuit courtroom this morning to hear the testimony in the trial of Alvin Kunesack and Charles Kunesack, town of Cicero, on charges of assault and battery. The two men were arrested on complaint of Frank Kunzman, also of the town of Cicero and an uncle of one of the defendants. The complainant alleges the two defendants attacked him during an argument over some pasture lands. He charges Kunesack sent some dogs to attack him. A jury was drawn this morning and the case was expected to end late this afternoon or early tomorrow.

DEATHS

EDGAR G. CASPER
Funeral services for Edgar G. Casper were held at 1:30 Monday afternoon at the Wichmann Funeral home, with the Rev. F. C. Reuter in charge. A delegation from the Moose lodge attended the funeral, and lodge brothers served as bearers. They were Earl Bates, Theodore Lang, Harry Boomer, Peter Larson, Anthony Natthorpe, and Adrian Gerrits. E. E. Cahill acted as prelate and Mortiz Tennie as dictator at the service conducted by the Moose lodge at the grave at Riverside cemetery.

LEONARD KOFFARNUS
The funeral of Leonard M. Koffarnus was held at 8:30 Monday morning from the Wichmann Funeral home, with services at 9 o'clock at St. Theresa church. Burial was in St. Joseph cemetery. Bearers were members of Company D, 12th Infantry, Sergeant J. Green, Corp. P. Kobal, Corp. M. Bruhl, Peter Guckenberg, Edward Kloes, and Orville Snider.

MRS. WILLIAM B. STORCH
Funeral services for Mrs. William B. Storch were held at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Wichmann Funeral home, with the Rev. R. A. Garrison in charge. Burial was in Riverside cemetery. Bearers were A. Fuchsgruber, Jake Hauert, Edward Schmidt, Daniel Butler, Fred Wiese, and Otto Wickert.

EDWIN A. LYMAN
Funeral services for Edwin A. Lyman will be held at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon at Wichmann Funeral home, with Dr. H. E. Peabody in charge. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

PETER SCHERER
Funeral services for Peter Scherer, 69, route 1, Hilbert were held at Sacred Heart church, Sherwood, at 9:30 Tuesday morning. Burial was in Sacred Heart cemetery. Pall bearers were John Scherer, Peter Scherer, Nick Scherer, William Scherer, Michael Schreiner, and William Colby.

Insult Extradition Papers Translated

Athens, Greece—(AP)—Extradition papers for Samuel Insull which were being translated at the foreign office consist of a demand from the governor of Illinois that the American department of state issue an extradition petition, and the petition from the federal government to Greece.

Attached are three indictments returned by the Cook-co grand jury, one charging Martin Insull with embezzlement, larceny and larceny by bailee of $322,720, described as the property of the Middle West Utilities company, and two other indictments charging Samuel and Martin Insull jointly with the same offenses involving $98,000 and $104,222 from the Middle West Utilities company and the Middle West Utilities investment company. There also are five depositions relating to the facts in connection with each indictment.

Watch Business To Gauge Market

That's Best Policy for Layman, Says Prof. H.

R. Doering

General business conditions should be the layman's chief gauge in determining major swings in the securities market, Prof. H. R. Doering of the University of Wisconsin Extension division declared last night in the third of a series of six lectures on "Managing Personal Investments." The lectures, presented under auspices of the extension division and the Appleton Post-Crescent, are being given at the Y. M. C. A.

Prof. Doering last night began a discussion of the mechanics of security purchases. He described marginal purchases, tape reading, and market movement causes, and told how business conditions might be forecast.

Any marked change in the trend of stocks, business, or interest rates points to a change in the others, he declared. He said that the world is still in the throes of this depression because the world stock of commodities still is at a high level. Until this condition changes, business cannot improve appreciably, he predicted. When the world stock of commodities is high, prices are low, and vice versa, he declared.

After describing tape reading, he listed the different kinds of orders that may be entered to either buy or sell stocks. Orders may be to buy at market price or at a specified price; there then are day orders, good until countermanded orders, and stop-loss orders.

Vets Transact Post Business

Legionaires Vote $75 to Carry on Their Boy Scout Work

General business of the legion occupied the attention of Okey Johnson post at a meeting at the Elk club last night. After the business session there was an entertainment program which featured high school talent. Lunch then was served. After lunch cards were played, the prize at schaffkopf being by way of Okey Johnson, the prize at bridge by Henry Volkman.

During the business session the auditing committee reported on post finances, $75 was voted for boy scout work, and John E. Hantschel, chairman of the welfare committee, asked help of the veterans in learning the names of worthy, needy legion families to whom Christmas baskets will be sent.

The veterans also heard a suggestion that citation might be observed at some future meeting of the post. The purpose is to give special recognition to all veterans who were cited during or after the war.

IT'S Better To Be SAFE than sorry — be sure YOU KNOW WHO THE PEDDLER IS AT YOUR DOOR —

In case you are suspicious of a Peddler at your door — phone the Police Department at Once — Phone No. 131 as we are anxious to co-operate with our citizens at all times.

Citizens NEED NOT be afraid of offending the honest solicitor salesmen or inspector representing a LOCAL FIRM — as THEY HAVE THEIR CREDENTIALS WITH THEM and welcome investigation — that is why they are required to carry credentials.

Why buy your Hosiery from Peddlers?

COMPARE VALUES before you "pay down that small deposit" to the silver tongued salesman—who knows his stuff. DO YOU KNOW that in most instances the price you pay for hosiery bought at your front or back door is more by the single pair or by the box—than your own merchant would ask you?

You Are Told In a Very Convincing Manner by these peddlers that you are saving on the purchase price of these hose because they come Direct-from-the-Mills-to-you—thus saving you the wholesalers and the retailers profit—and in some cases you are led to believe there are only two steps from Growers-to-you.

But these Peddlers OMIT telling you of These Facts which are NOT shown in the "cleverly prepared chart" but which Are Very Decidedly a part of Direct Selling Organization Expense.

THE SALESMAN is paid his profit from 15 per cent to 50 per cent which as a rule is the initial deposit on your order,—in addition to this deposit if he averages a certain number of sales he is given a bonus on his earnings of 10 per cent to 25 per cent all of which the customer pays.

THE BRANCH MANAGER comes in for 10 per cent to 20 per cent on the orders taken in the territory under his supervision. In many instances the Branch Office Rent is paid by the main office—which goes in to the price of your purchase. Due to the many changes of Branch Managers there are unavoidable expenses which must be paid by the main office—and which are added to the price of the hose. Office stationery, printed matter, etc.—are expenses never mentioned to you.

THE DIVISION MANAGER or District Manager is paid his traveling expenses, in addition to receiving a salary or commission on all business in his territory. Some direct-selling organizations maintain Sectional Sales Managers whose traveling expenses, salary or commission must be paid.

IN ADDITION to the above some Direct Sellers pay Recruiting Managers—Sales Investigators—Sales Promoters—Home-Office Representatives—Advertising Specialists. All these men must be paid a salary and their expenses. Are you told about these?

THE HUGE AMOUNTS SPENT for Advertising is NOT mentioned by the well trained Bell Ringer. Tremendous Sums Are Spent in the conducting of Testing Schools—to devise "decoys" to better enable the Peddler to secure your attention.

SPECIAL PRIZES—Cash—Watches—Clothing—even Automobiles must be added in to the price on the order blank.

CONVENTIONS—Special Sales Meetings—costing enormous amounts must be figured in the cost of the hosiery. Freight and cartage expense thru different stages of manufacturing is necessary.

Do Not Be Misled by "THE GUARANTEE" which is most attractively pictured to you by the Clever Salesman as a Pair Free, etc.

Some of the leading Hosiery Peddlers have gained their momentum of business on this pair free guarantee—but this Guarantee Has Been REDUCED—until now—the dissatisfied customer is obliged to answer a most lengthy and EMBARRASSING QUESTIONNAIRE in order to receive any consideration, which was assured her at the time of her purchase.

It is not impossible that eventually ONLY the toes—heels—and tops will be guaranteed—and as a rule they are of materials other than silk.

HOW MANY TIMES has the salesman called back as he promised, when taking your order to pick up your unsatisfactory hosiery and make an adjustment? How long before you received any consideration?

Do Not Confuse Representatives of Local Institutions with the Itinerant Peddler—for they represent legitimate business houses who are furnishing employment to local people, pay local taxes, and are entitled to an interview. Protect yourself! Ask the man who calls at your house for credentials from local institutions.

Acute Phases Of Crisis Now Gone—Hoover

President Asks Sales Tax, Cut in U. S. Salaries, Vet Funds Slash

Washington.—(P)—The full text of President Hoover's annual message to congress follows:

To the senate and house of representatives:

In accordance with my constitutional duty, I transmit herewith to the congress information upon the state of the Union together with recommendations of measures for its consideration.

Our country is at peace. Our national defense has been maintained at a high state of effectiveness. All of the executive departments of the government have been conducted during the year with a high degree of public interest. There has been a far larger degree of freedom from industrial conflict than hitherto known. Education and science have made further advances. The public health is to-day at its highest known level. While we have recently engaged in the aggressive contest of a national election, its very tranquillity and the acceptance of its results furnish abundant evidence of the strength of our institutions.

In the face of widespread hardship our people have demonstrated daily a magnificent sense of humanity, of individual and community responsibility for the welfare of the less fortunate. They have grown in their conceptions and organization for cooperative action for the common welfare.

The provision against distress during this winter, the great private agencies of the country have been mobilized again; the generosity of our people has again come into evidence to a degree in which all America may take great pride. Likewise the local authorities and the states are engaged everywhere in supplemental measures of relief. The provisions made for loans from the Reconstruction Finance corporation to states that have exhausted their own resources, guarantee that there should be no hunger or suffering from cold in the country. The large majority of states are showing a sturdy cooperation in the spirit of the federal aid.

The surgeon general, in charge of the public health service, furnishes me with the following information upon the state of public health:

Mortality rate per 1,000 of population on an annual basis from representative states:

First 9 months of—	General Infant
1928	11.9 67.8
1929	12.0 65.8
1930	11.4 62.0
1931	11.2 60.0
1932	10.6 55.0

The sickness rates from data available show the same trends. These facts indicate the fine endeavor of the agencies which have been mobilized for care of those in distress.

Economic Status

The unparalleled world-wide economic depression has continued through the year. Due to the European collapse, the situation developed during last fall and winter into a series of most acute crises. The unprecedented emergency measures enacted and policies adopted undoubtedly saved the country from economic disaster. After serving to defend the national security, these measures began in July to show their weight and influence toward improvement of conditions in many parts of the country.

The measures and policies which have procured this turn toward recovery should be continued until the depression is passed, and then the emergency agencies should be promptly liquidated. The expansion of credit facilities by the Federal Reserve system and the Reconstruction Finance corporation has been of incalculable value. The loans of the latter for reproductive works, and to railways for the creation of employment; its support of the credit structure through loans to banks, insurance companies, railways, building and loan associations, and to agriculture has protected the savings and insurance policies of millions of our citizens and has relieved millions of borrowers from distress; they have enabled industry and business to function and expand. The assistance given to farm loan banks, the establishment of the home loan banks and agricultural credit associations—all in their various ramifications have placed large sums of money at the disposal of the people in protection and aid. Beyond this, the extensive organization of the country in voluntary action has produced profound results.

Relief Measures

The following table indicates direct expenditures of the federal government in aid to unemployment, agriculture, and financial relief over the past four years. The sums applied to financial relief multiply themselves many fold, because considerable measure the initial capital supplied to the Reconstruction Finance corporation, farm loan banks, etc., which will be recovered to the treasury.

Fiscal year ending June 30—	Public Works	Financial	Loans
1930	$410,420,000	$15,100,000
1931	$74,870,000	$19,700,000
1932	$55,880,000	$72,700,000

Text of Presidential Message to Congress

HIGHLIGHTS OF MESSAGE

Washington.—(P)—Here are some highlights from President Hoover's annual message as it was read today to congress:

"Continued constructive policies promoting the economic recovery of the country must be the paramount duty of the government."

"In the face of widespread hardship our people have demonstrated daily a magnificent sense of humanity, of individual and community responsibility for the welfare of the less fortunate."

"Institutions and men may have resources and credit but unless they have confidence progress is halting and insecure."

"The congress must be warned that a host of interested persons inside and outside the government whose vision is concentrated on some particular function will at once protest against these (federal reorganization) proposals."

"If we are to secure rapid and assured recovery and protection for the future we must cooperate with foreign nations in many measures."

"The welfare of our people is dependent upon successful issue of the great causes of world peace, world disarmament and organized world recovery."

"We have built a system of individualism peculiarly our own which must not be forgotten in any governmental acts, for from it have grown greater accomplishments than those of any other nation."

"As a competitor it (the government) becomes at once a tyranny in whatever direction it may touch."

"The highest form of self-government is the voluntary cooperation within our people for such purposes."

Our economic distress and major progress in stability and security to every fireside in our country.

The welfare of our people is dependent upon successful issue of the great causes of world peace, world disarmament, and organized world recovery. Nor is it too much to say that to-day as never before the welfare of mankind and the preservation of civilization depend upon our solution of these questions. Such solutions can not be attained except by honest friendship, by adherence to agreements entered upon until mutually revised and by cooperation among nations in a determination to find solutions which will be mutually beneficial.

Other Legislation

I have placed various legislative needs before the congress in previous messages and these views require no amplification on this occasion. I have urged the need for reform in our transportation and power regulation, in the anti-trust laws as applied to our national resource industries, western range conservation, extension of federal aid to child-health services, membership in the world court, the ratification of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway treaty, revision of the bankruptcy acts, revision of federal court procedure, and many other pressing problems.

These and other special subjects I shall where necessary deal with by special communications to the congress.

The activities of our government are so great, when combined with the emergency activities which have arisen out of the world crisis, that even the briefest review of them myself of the fact that every detail under the annual message unduly long. I shall therefore avail myself of the fact that every detail of the government is covered in my reports to the congress by each of the departments and agencies of the government.

Conclusion

It seems to me appropriate upon this occasion to make certain general observations upon the principles which must dominate the solution of problems now pressing upon the nation. Legislation in response to national needs will be effective only if every such act conforms to a complete philosophy of the people's purposes and destiny. Ours is distinctive government with a unique history and background, consciously dedicated to specific ideals of liberty and to a faith in the inviolable sanctity of the individual human spirit. Furthermore, the continued existence and adequate functioning of our government in preservation of ordered liberty and stimulation of progress depends upon the maintenance of state, local, institutional, and individual sense of responsibility. We have built a system of individualism peculiarly our own which must not be forgotten in any governmental acts, for from it have grown greater accomplishments than those of any other nation.

Turning to the field of international relations, the president declared that if the United States is to secure recovery and protection for the future "we must cooperate with foreign nations in many measures." He limited his direct discussion of war debts to the following paragraph:

"The European governments, obligated to us in war debts, have requested that there should be suspension of payments due the United States on Dec. 15 next, to be accompanied by exchange of views upon their debt question. Our government has informed them that we do not approve of suspension of the Dec. 15 payments. I have stated that I would recommend to the congress methods to overcome temporary exchange difficulties in connection with this payment from nations where it may be necessary."

Upon the finding of solutions to international questions, the president said, depends "the preservation of civilization." He added that solutions could not be found except "by honest friendship, by adherence to agreements entered upon until mutually revised and by cooperation amongst the nations."

The chief executive linked closely the goals of world peace, world disarmament and world recovery, and spoke of currency depreciation and the decrease in price levels in connection with the projected world economic conference.

Promotes Confidence

"From these origins rise most of the destruction trade barriers now stifling the commerce of the world," he said. "We could by successful action increase security and expand trade through stability in international exchange and monetary values. By such action world confidence could be restored. It would bring courage and stability, which

Better Selling Needed in 1933, Babson Declares

Everybody in Company Must be Sales-Minded, Says Expert

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Park, Mass.—Business is gradually righting itself and improvement of a fundamental sort is underway. 1933 should see an average gain of at least 10 per cent in the total volume over 1932. That should be encouragement to harassed business men the nation over. However, those concerns that share in the increase will be those who emphasize the importance of better selling. From 1925 to 1929 we had a seller's market, and the going was easy; but from 1930 to 1934 we have had, and will have, a buyer's market, and the going is still hard. There will be more business to be had next year than this year; but new and better sales methods alone will get it. The consumer is still king. Competition for his royal dollar will be keener than ever.

Must Cooperate

Success in 1933 will depend upon getting everybody in the company inspired with the zeal of a missionary to sell that company's products. Sales-mindedness should be instilled in the whole organization. The president to officers, employees, and sales department. It is a mistake to turn the whole matter of selling over to the sales department and promptly forget it. The selling end of any business is its most important activity. Every worker's job, as well as the very existence of the business, depends on it. All executives, whatever their position, should be obliged to spend some of their time out among the customers and prospects. That is the only way to learn what buyers are doing and how demands are changing. Then the production man will know how to fit his products to the need; the financial controller will know what to expect in prices and income; the president will know the problem of the salesman and if the company's selling needs improvement he will know it and improve it.

Twenty years ago production was put on a scientific basis and has progressed scientifically ever since. Distribution on the other hand has remained backward. Sales methods that were good in 1920 or in 1929 won't fill the bill today. Customers' buying habits have changed, industries have changed, purchasing power has changed, selling areas have changed. Selling must be kept up to date. The only way to do it is through constant study of the markets, the products and the trend of business in different parts of the country. The high pressure, glad-hand type of salesman is giving way to the administrative, scientific, analytical, resourceful thinker who knows his products, his prospects and his markets. Ability to size up business trends and the situation of the company itself and to readjust policies to accord with changing conditions will be the characteristics of the successful salesmanager of 1933.

Scientific Selling

Scientific selling can be applied right now. For the next three months statistics and reports indicate a rising volume of business in Maryland, Virginia, Maine, New Hampshire, North Dakota, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Illinois and Ohio. These are some of the brighter spots at the moment, but of course sales should not be neglected in other states. It merely means that added pressure should be put on the better areas. In another three months other territories may be the most promising. The salesmanager should follow these changing trends very carefully and be ready to shift his peak sales efforts to meet them.

Another point: certain industries have a brighter outlook than others. Over the next three months conditions should be relatively best in retail merchandising, clothing, cotton textiles, shoes and other so-called consumer industries. Heavy lines like steel, construction, machinery and other producers' goods may not improve much until spring.

Another illustration: Christmas savings funds to the amount of $440,000,000 will be distributed this month. Aggressive salesmen will go after their share, but they need to know where and how the bulk of it will be spent. Estimates are that 77 per cent will be distributed in the eastern states. New England will get $53,737,000; the Eastern States including Ohio, Illinois, Michigan and Indiana will get $101,892,800 and the Middle Atlantic States will get $183,720,000. Thirty-eight per cent will go for Christmas purchases; twenty-eight per cent for savings; eleven per cent for year-end bills; ten per cent for taxes; five per cent for insurance; six per cent for mortgage payments and interests; two per cent for education and travel. Keen salesmen will watch every faction that affects public purchasing power.

Stress Sales, Quality

People are tired of inferior goods. Quality at low prices is the keynote to successful sales in 1933. This depression has sharpened the discrimination of all buyers. They know that cheaply made merchandise of any kind wears out quicker and is really the most expensive. People can't afford to waste their hard-earned money on flimsy goods, and they won't do it. Both advertising and selling plans should be keyed to soundness, utility and quality in the products they offer. This is the time to prepare a strong sales and advertising campaign for the coming year, but do it along the 1933 model, not on the obsolete models of either 1929 or 1932.

Trentlage, alternate.

Installation of officers will take place the third Monday in January. Arrangements for a Christmas party on Dec. 19 were made and committees were appointed. Mrs. Charles Young and Mrs. E. E. Cahall were named to the kitchen and dining room committee, and Mrs. L. M. Schindler, Mrs. Fred Schlantz, and Mrs. L. G. Bleick will arrange the program. Each captain will plan the menu for her own table.

The committee for the New Year's frolic on Dec. 20 will include Mrs. Walter Gmeiner, Miss Rennie Struck, Mrs. C. E. Murdock, Mrs. Earl Bouden, and Mrs. George Schmidt.

Cards were played at the social hour which followed the meeting, prizes being awarded to Mrs. Maude Gribbler and Mrs. Lee Braun. Mrs. E. E. Cahall and Mrs. George Dame were in charge of the social.

Visiting day will be observed by Ladies Auxiliary of Zeta Tau Alpha Wednesday afternoon at Eagle hall. Schafkopf, dice, and bridge will be played. The committee in charge includes Mrs. Elsie Fischer, chairwoman; Mrs. Mae Strutz, Mrs. Meta Hancock, Mrs. Margaret Greason, and Mrs. Gusta Krabbe.

Deborah Rebekah lodge will elect new officers for the coming year at the meeting which will follow a 6 o'clock picnic supper Wednesday night at Odd Fellow hall. Each member will bring her own sandwiches and a covered dish. Plans will be made for a Christmas party Dec. 16.

Past dictators of Loyal Order of Moose will be honored at the meeting at 8 o'clock Tuesday night at Moose hall. Special entertainment is being planned and a surprise lunch will be served. Final arrangements for the second degree frolic to be held next Sunday at Kaukauna will be made.

Miss Hopfensperger In Recital Tonight

Miss Mary Elizabeth Hopfensperger, a student of Miss Gladys Ives Brainard, will present a piano recital at Peabody hall at 8 o'clock this evening.

In the presentation of "At the Brook" by Boisdere she will be assisted by Miss Dorothea Simpson, violinist; Joseph Zickler, cellist, and Margaret Trueblood, pianist, and in the Mendelssohn Concerto string quartet made up of Miss Marion Miller, first violin, Miss Dorothea Simpson, second violin, Cyrus Daniel, viola, and Joseph Zickler cello, will provide the accompaniment.

Business Women Hold 'Twin' Party

The twin idea was carried out in dress, card playing, and prizes at the "twin" party of Appleton Business and Professional Women's club Monday night at the Woman's club. Ten tables were in play. The prizes were awarded to high and low scorers and to their "twins," that is, the persons with whom they began to play. Winners were Mrs. Margery Berge, Mrs. E. W. Cooney, Miss Clarice Steinke, and Miss Theresa Sonntag. Prizes were also given to Miss Ethel Miller and Miss Millard for retaining first place at the top table when the play closed. The prize was originally given to the two highest at the low table and this couple moved to the top table, taking their prizes with them. As long as they could retain their places at the high table, they could keep the prizes, but if they lost, they were forced to give up their prizes to the two taking their places.

Arrangements were discussed for the Christmas party for children of the Orthodox school on Dec. 22. A noon luncheon will be served to the children, after which the party will be held. Plans were made for the club party on Dec. 21, and for the joint meeting with the Woman's club and the American Association of University Women on Dec. 15 when Mrs. Laura W. Mc Mullen, Montpelier, Vt., will speak on International Relations. Mrs. Mc Mullen is chairman of the international relations committee of the Federation of Women's clubs.

Miss Wilson Speaks To Epworth League

Miss Elizabeth Wilson was the speaker at the meeting of the High School Epworth League of First Methodist church Sunday night at the church. The topic was World Friendship and Marion Dettman was the leader.

A church service was held at 6:45 at the church. Kirby Tink gave a book review of Lincoln Steffen. At the meeting next Sunday which will be a supper meeting, there will be three hosts and three hostesses. Clement Ketchum, of the Appleton high school faculty, will talk on The Moral Correlation of Physical Science. There will be special music.

Add Bridge to Annual Charity Ball Program

Bridge will be a feature of this year's charity ball to be sponsored by King's Daughters Tuesday evening, Dec. 27, at North Shore Country club. Owing to the fact that many people do not care to dance, the committee in charge is adding this new feature to the entertainment. Prizes will be awarded for high scores. Those wishing dinner at North Shore that evening are to make their reservations at the club by noon Monday, Dec. 26.

Woman's Club Plans Depression Luncheon

A "depression luncheon" at 12:30 Thursday afternoon at the club will feature the monthly meeting of Appleton Woman's club. All members are invited to attend. Following the luncheon, Girl Scouts of the city will present two short plays showing the work of the organization. The Woman's club chorus will sing several Christmas selections.

Sorority Entertains At Dancing Party

A formal dancing party was held Saturday evening by Kappa Alpha Theta sorority of Lawrence college at the North Shore Country club. A buffet supper was served at 10 o'clock in the evening. Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. La Vahn Maesch and Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Bober.

Officers of Aid Society To be Named

ELECTION of officers will take place at the meeting of the Ladies Aid society of Mt. Olive Lutheran church at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors. The committee in charge of the meeting includes Mrs. Louis Freide, chairman; Mrs. Orin Earle, Mrs. John Ehke, Mrs. Henry Frank, Mrs. Herman Franck, Mrs. John Fredericks, Mrs. Alvin Falk, Mrs. Philip Greiner, Mrs. F. Glasnap, and Mrs. Carl Gerlach.

Miss Maude Harwood was appointed to take care of the altar for December at the meeting of the Altar Guild of All Saints Episcopal church Monday night at the home of the Misses Laura and Mildred Helme, 833 E. Alton-st. The members sewed on new altar linens. Mrs. H. F. Henke, president, had charge of the meeting and eight members attended. There will be another meeting late in December to plan for the Christmas services.

The Reading Circle of First English Lutheran church will meet at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter Koerner, 508 W. Wisconsin-ave. The last two chapters of the study book, "Widening the Frontier," will be read, and the date will be set for the Christmas party.

The crew of the San Cristobel, Methodist Social Union, of which Mrs. Mell Buxton is captain, will meet for a 1 o'clock luncheon Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. J. Loveland, 1116 N. Harrison-st. This will be the last meeting of the group for this year.

A social meeting of Zion Lutheran church will take place at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in

Finishes Lectures About Shakespeare

Shakespeare's romances were discussed by Miss Dorothy Bethurum, instructor in English literature at Lawrence college, in the last of her series of lectures on Shakespeare Monday afternoon in her class room in Main hall before members of Appleton Woman's club. Miss Bethurum talked on "A Winter's Tale," "Cymbeline," and "The Tempest." About 90 women attended.

Preceding the lecture, Mrs. John Balliet, chairman of the adult education committee, presented, Miss Bethurum, on behalf of the Appleton Woman's club, a rare edition of Chaucer edited by Skeat of London.

A new series of lectures on psychology will be given by Prof. J. H. Griffiths, head of the psychology department of Lawrence, beginning about the middle of January for members of the Woman's club. Over 90 reservations have already been received. Further reservations will be taken at the clubhouse.

Accepts Position With Welfare Body

Miss Alice Pfefferle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Pfefferle, 314 E. Washington-st., left Sunday for Canton, Ohio, where she has accepted a position with the child welfare division of the Catholic Community League of that city. Miss Pfefferle attended Lawrence college for one year and is a graduate of Marquette University. She was graduated from the National Catholic School of Social Service at Washington, D. C., last June.

Missionary Society Plans Yule Program

A Christmas story, a playlet, and special music is scheduled for the Christmas party to be given by Women's Foreign Missionary society of First Methodist church at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. W. Jones, 229 Park-ave. The playlet "Starved Brains" will be put on by Miss Betty Meyer and Miss Margaret Briggs, and the music will be under the direction of Mrs. Percy Fullinwider.

A tree will be a feature of the entertainment, and each person will bring a gift to be sent to foreign missions. The committee in charge of the event includes Miss Anna Tarr, chairman; Mrs. G. W. Jones, Mrs. H. F. Hecker, Mrs. Vern Ames, Mrs. A. C. Remley, Mrs. Percy Fullinwider, Mrs. W. L. Crow, Mrs. Margaret De Long, and Miss Esther Miller.

Blackheads Developed into Itchy Pimples. Cuticura Healed.

"My face was covered with tiny blackheads which later developed into itching, burning pimples. The pimples were in blotches, especially around my nose, chin and forehead. When I scratched them they festered and scaled over. The trouble lasted about three months. I used all kinds of cleansing creams to no avail. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample of each. I used them and they afforded relief so I purchased more, and after using three boxes of Cuticura Ointment, together with the Cuticura Soap, I was healed." "THE STORE WITH THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT"

Only Super-Woman Can Mix Home-Making, 'Career'

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Dorothy Dix—I think you make a mistake when you advise women to stick to the home and not try to mix careers with matrimony. Outside activities, such as clubs, whose pleasure are vicarious or flitting from a lecture on politics to a game of bridge, will not do the trick of emancipating the spirit of women. We younger women who have had to concentrate on one absorbing occupation to earn a living before our marriages are the only really independent women in this country, whether we still earn money or not. Never will a home, husband and children be our whole world, though our love and consideration for them is not lessened thereby. When our children leave us we will not be bankrupt. The world has changed, living conditions are different, and there is nothing that would solve all of women's problems better than regular effort along one line, something they can build on from week to week and from year to year.

DOROTHY DIX

Answer: I agree with you that a woman makes a mistake when she puts all of her wealth in one coin, as Mrs. Browning says, and who is left spiritually destitute if she loses that. No women commit a greater folly than those whom go absolutely domestic as soon as they are married and who never thereafter have a thought or an interest that isn't bounded by their homes.

They grow dull and stale and narrow, and their very virtues are their undoing because in the end they become nothing but pieces of domestic machinery. Their very love becomes burdensome to the husbands and children on whom they lavish their devotion.

All of us know plenty of women like these. Women who have lived so much in the lives of their families that they have no lives left of their own whatever, and when their husbands die or their children leave them they are utterly lonely and forlorn. Like Othello, their occupation is gone. They have no interests of their own. No contacts. No friends. They are helpless and bewildered as lost children in the dark.

There are thousands of middle-aged women who have plenty of money to live on independently, who might have their own homes and travel, but who have to go and live with their children, although they know they menace their children's homes, because they have to live through their children. They have no interest in the world in anything except John and Mary.

I believe that every woman should be sufficiently forward-looking to provide herself against this rainy day when she may possibly lose her husband and when she will surely lose her children. I believe she should keep up her friendships, her social connections, her accomplishments and keep her interests as wide and her enthusiasms as fresh as she possibly can, so that she will have resources within herself that she can call upon in her need.

But all of this is different from her following some career in the outside world that will take her away from her home and her children. I do not see how any woman can be both a successful wife and mother and a successful business woman or lecturer or doctor any more than a man can be both a successful carpenter and lawyer. Either occupation takes all the time and intelligence and energy that one individual possesses. Of course, there may be here and there a superwoman who can accomplish this feat, but in order to do so she needs to have the luck to get a superhusband and have superchildren.

In the cases in which I have seen it tried out, the husbands got tired of having wives who were always off speech-making or singing or decorating some house a thousand miles away and sought the society of ladies who were Sally-on-the-spot and the children brought up by trained nurses and in boarding schools developed into warped little creatures with queer ideas and no affection for anybody.

Of course, when a woman needs to make money to feed and clothe her children and give them decent living conditions it is the right thing for her to work outside of the home, but I believe that only financial necessity should drive her to doing it. I believe that bringing up children by hand is the biggest and best paying business in which any mother can engage.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—My husband and I have one child, a boy of six, and we are always quarreling about him. My husband never corrects him, gives him everything he wants and never makes him obey and thinks that I am fussy when I try to teach him regular habits and good manners. My husband and I are in a constant state of quarrel. What can I do about it?

MRS. M. J. S.

Answer: I don't know, unless you could have your husband's head operated on and a few brains inserted in it, for it certainly does seem as if a man with any intelligence whatever would have sense enough to realize that he is ruining the child.

Possibly your husband belongs to the class of optimists who believe that you can bring up a child who is spoiled and selfish and impudent and ill-mannered and uncontrolled and that when it is grown it will turn into a sweet, amiable, dutiful son or daughter who will be a polished lady or gentleman and a credit to its parents.

Unfortunately, no such miracles occur, as he can see by observing the young hoodlums whose parents also reared children on the theory that they would be all right when they were grown and change from little devils to big angels. Good manners and good principles and a consideration for the rights of others have to be "pruned" into children, as our old nurses used to say, when the STORY OF SUE

By Margery Hale

I T was Sue who glanced up at Ruth's hysterical, excited whisper drifted to the door. She saw Dale Courtney standing there. His face was puzzled. He came into the room, and crossed to Ruth. "Anything I can do, dear?" She shook her head. "I just asked Joe to please marry Sally—and he doesn't love her. She loves him, though, and she can't get better unless she believes that he cares. It was a silly thing for me to ask, wasn't it?"

The man didn't answer. "Maybe he wants to. Forget about it," Jack returned. The clock on the desk ticked slowly, painfully. "After all, a nurse came. 'Will you come with me, Mrs. Courtney?' she asked Ruth. 'May I bring Sue?' Ruth begged. 'I don't want to go alone.' The nurse nodded, and Ruth and Sue followed her.

"Is she dying?" Ruth asked. "I think she is going to get better," the nurse answered. "Oh, I'm so glad. Is Dr. Raynor with her?"

"Not now. He has been. She wants to see you."

Sally's face was as white as the counterpane. Her eyes were very blue, very tired, but her lips were smiling.

"Hello, Ruth," she said. "I'm going to live. I've got a hunch that it may be worth the trouble."

"Of course you are going to live," Ruth repeated. Whoever thought that you weren't?"

"Everybody," Sally whispered again. "If you didn't, why did you all come at this ghastly hour?"

"What made you decide to stick around?" Ruth asked, trying to make her voice careless and gay. "A man, my dear! The sex always had an irresistible fascination for me."

The nurse motioned to Ruth and Sue that they had stayed long enough. Ruth stooped over, kissed her sister lightly on the forehead, and followed Sue from the room. In the hall she caught Sue's arm. "Wait! Did you see what I did?"

Sue shook her head. "Under her pillow—that small silver locket! She's holding as a treasure. It's working. She does love him. Oh, pray that Joe will love her, too. He will, won't he?"

"I will be all right," Sue answered. "Maybe sometimes love came as a result of a fruition, she thought. But she did not believe that it did. It was something lovely, lifting, unexpected, that came on you and wouldn't go. Romance wasn't made to order. It knew no patterns, although every romance had the same round moon, to work the spell it needed. Love might not always be gay. But it was spontaneous, not studied, she believed."

But once upon a time Joe Raynor had believed that he loved Sally. Maybe he would slip into the old spell again.

But that belonged to tomorrow. And tomorrow was almost here. The street was growing light. The snow was falling faster.

"Let's get some breakfast," Dale Courtney was saying and Jack was agreeing.

Pleasantries Sometimes Break Bridge Tenseness

BY ELY CULBERTSON

There is usually an air of tenseness about the play of Contract Bridge in tournaments where titles are at stake. Naturally, the players are more interested in the play of each card when the play of it may mean a championship than they are in a social game of Bridge where the hand will be forgotten before the next deal is completed. Some players become deadly serious. They concentrate to the exclusion of every outside interest. Sometimes a player is so engrossed in his mental play of the hand that his physical actions and even his words bear little relation to the problem he is seeking to solve.

In the recent Vanderbilt Cup Tournament, Mr. Raymond Calpe, one of the most expert players in the country, was engaged in playing a difficult contract. It was before the adoption of the new international code of laws, and at that time any player might look back at a trick until either he or his partner had played in turn or otherwise to the next following trick. The Declarer might look at the precious trick until he had played from his own hand or the Dummy. Mr. Calpe was studying the hand closely. Success or failure of the contract seemed to rest upon whether or not he could read the distribution of the suits in the hands.

"Pardon me, gentlemen," he remarked suavely, "may I see the last trick?"

His partner, Mr. Ralph J. Leibendefter, the Dummy for the moment, turned over the 4 of hearts. His opponents likewise turned the cards they had played. Mr. Calpe studied the hand, apparently with the greatest attention, then thanked the players, who again turned the cards face down on the table. The study continued. Again Mr. Calpe said: "Gentlemen, I hate to bother you, but may I see the last trick?"

Again Mr. Leibendefter turned the 4 of hearts. Again the adversaries disclosed the cards they had played. Mr. Calpe studied deeply. "Thank you, gentlemen," he said at last, and again the cards were turned.

About to play to the next trick, Mr. Calpe suddenly remarked that he had not examined with full care the card played by one of his opponents.

"I am terribly sorry, gentlemen, but I want to see the last trick. I am sure I have transgressed your patience."

The cards were turned once more. Mr. Leibendefter, slightly testily disclosing that the heart 4 had been played from the Dummy. Another long study. Finally, with meticulous politeness, Mr. Calpe thanked his opponents. The cards were turned once more, and Mr. Calpe led.

"Wait a moment," remarked an opponent. "I am sure I hate to bother you all, but I would like to see this last trick."

Mr. Calpe now joined in the sport of turning the cards, and Mr. Leibendefter very reluctantly disclosed the 4 of hearts.

"Thank you," remarked the player, with suavity equal to that of Mr. Calpe, and the cards were turned back.

The player still delayed following suit, and said: "I dislike to trouble you gentlemen, but I must see the last trick again."

Mr. Calpe and his partner complied, but Mr. Leibendefter, whose arm was tired and patience exhausted, remarked:

"I'll be hanged if I will turn that 4 of hearts again."

There are many instances like this which lighten up for a moment or two the drab intenseness of tournament play. Mr. Calpe's partner repeated requests for the turn of the trick that he might again study it were probably only the subconscious workings of his mind, and his opponent's lighter requests to see the trick were for the purpose of making Mr. Calpe concentrate on the immediate problem before him rather than making a purely mechanical request.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

By Emily Post

MEETING AND GREETING
Dear Mrs. Post: I am having a party and should like to know what to do about introductions. As the guests arrive, is each one taken individually and introduced to the guests who are already present and perhaps seated or grouped around? And what is done with three or four guests who arrive at once?

Answer: Taking each guest up to every other is customary in many American communities, and its intention is a kind one. New Yorkers never do this, but then New Yorkers are not especially noted for their kindness to strangers. Best taste introduces where-ever necessary but stops short of the unnecessary. A hostess always sees that a new arrival is introduced to someone nearby and any guest who seems marooned or at a loss should be rescued at once by her hostess. One who is obviously all right is left alone.

My dear Mrs. Post: I am employed in the office of a Protestant religious organization and occasionally men of importance connected with this organization come into the office. It is proper for me, as a lady, to stand when introduced to such men? There are only three other women in the office beside myself and I understand that we are looked upon as hostesses and are expected to rise. Would the question of age of the gentlemen introduced enter into the situation?

Answer: In your particular situation, which is slightly different from that of the ordinary business employee, I would suggest that you rise and make a gesture of going forward to meet your visitors, as any deputy hostess would do.

Dear Mrs. Post: (1) Is it proper for a woman to ask a man to come to see her after meeting him? (2) What do I say to a person who thanks me for calling on the telephone?

Answer: (1) Yes, if she would like to see him again and if she has any reason to suppose he would like to see her. (2) "You're welcome."

Your Birthday

"SAGITTARIUS"
If December 7th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:45 a. m. to 9:30 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 4 p. m., and from 6 p. m. to 7 p. m. The danger periods are from 10:40 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. and from 1 p. m. to 2:30 p. m.

You will probably find yourself "running around in circles" on this date. It will be difficult to set your mind to the work at hand and still more difficult to keep it there. Better to delay the making of decisions than to trust to luck or to play hunches in making them. Lady Luck will be off on a holiday as far as many are concerned. People generally are inclined to be uneasy of mind and distrustful.

The child born on this December 7th will be fortunate if he does not develop many of the very annoying ways and mannerisms that youngsters so often pick up. The child will be a dare-devil, afraid of nothing and possessed of too much self-confidence. The child will be more than a little conceited. At school it will do well in its studies, but will be popular with neither his teacher nor his classmates.

If December 7th is the date of your birth, you will probably get, by fair means or foul, whatever you want for yourself. You are not averse to using your friends, and once you have bled them for all they are worth you unceremoniously drop them. You will succeed in a material way, but your travels through life will not be the easiest, and probably far from the happiest. You have a creative type of mind, more practical than idealistic, a mind with a decided inventive turn. You are logical in your reasoning and thinking, methodical in your work. You do not like hard work particularly; but, if you have a chance to "put something over," you will work your hardest just for the pleasure you derive from "outsmarting" someone.

Born on December 7th, you take great pride and pleasure in accumulating wealth. You are not a particularly loving parent or mate. You like to "show-off" and your home is just the place to do it. You entertain lavishly, dress almost too well and are extravagant.

Nothing But Wodehouse.
Laughs aren't so common these days that any of us can afford to pass up mirth-provoking chances. If you want to forget your troubles and burst yourself of a whole series of guffaws I suggest that you get a copy of "Nothing But Wodehouse."

Here is an omnibus volume containing a great number of the funniest stories of that very gifted humorist, P. G. Wodehouse. If you have ever read any of his books, I won't need to tell you anything about him; if you haven't, all I can do is advise you to start at once—and ask you where on earth you've been all these years.

Included in "Nothing But Wodehouse" is the full-length novel, "Leave It to Smith." There are also 11 stories about Jeeves, that super-valvet; six stories from "Heather, Enjoyed It," three from "Meet Mr. Mulliner," and four from "Mr. Mulliner Smokes."

Orden Nash edited the book, and while every Wodehouse fan will think of one or two stories that ought to be in the book and aren't, the selection of stories has been very good. After all, it would be impossible to make up a book of this kind without leaving out somebody's favorite tale, and Mr. Nash seems to have done about as well as anyone could expect.

I don't know of anyone who can write funny stories quite as well as Mr. Wodehouse can. This book contains some of his best.

"Nothing But Wodehouse" is published by Doubleday, Doran and Co.

In the use of the words "my" and "mine."

Successful People Born on December 7th:

Pick Out Toys That Hold Child's Interest

BY ANGELO PATRI
"I want a toy for a little boy seven years old."
"What kind of a toy, madam?"
"Oh, just some little thing that he can play with. I have to take him something. Any bright, attractive toy will answer."

"How's this tumbling man? You wind him like this and he does like this."

"How much does he cost?"
"Thirty-five cents. Shall I wrap him up?"
The little boy gets another toy. He twists the key and watches the man turn over and over and then lie still. He winds him again and watches. Each time his interest grows less and less until by the tenth time he has wound him and watched him he has had enough. Perhaps by that time the spring is gone anyway. The tumbling man lies around the house for a few days. He is picked up from under the chair, from the top of the radio, from the table until somebody loses patience and throws the old thing out. That is the life story of many and many a toy.

I like the tumbling men and their relatives for the Christmas stockings. All children like some junk in the playbox. But when they are fed to children all year round there is little pleasure in them and much waste.

The attraction a toy holds for a child is its promise of activity. Not its own activity. The child wants the activity. Not its own activity. The child wants the activity for himself. His whole being is centered on doing something. If he can work his arms and legs and back he is content. The thing that lets him work himself out well is the thing he likes the best. And it is the thing he ought to have. The more he can do with his playing the better it is for him and the more he likes it.

When you buy a doll ask yourself how many things the child can do with it. Can she undress and dress it? Bathe it, brush and comb it, or shampoo its painted locks? Can it speak and move? Sit in a chair at table? Can it stand hard usage? (The parlor doll is not for a child.) If it is only a decorative object, if it is a one-action doll, leave it and take one that offers variety and companionship.

All children like and use balls. A ball is not just a ball. There are balls for many occasions. One you roll, one you bounce, one you throw for catching, one you bat and catch, one you punch, one you kick, one you swim on, one you keep in your pocket for use on call. Don't go to a store and buy a ball just because. Try to find what the child can do with this ball and so make it worth his while to own it.

You see toys are really tools. We have called them playthings so long that their real use has been overlaid with a heavy coating of misinformation. Toys are the tools that a child uses to build the ladder he must mount to carry him from infancy up to maturity. The quality and the implication of his tools are of the highest importance to his success. Regard them with respect and select them with understanding care.

Toys need not be costly to be effective. Their effect depends upon their service to the child in question. Blocks do not cost as much as miniature automobiles and they do more for the children. Balls, dolls, miniature cooking outfits that work, books that supply the stimulation the child needs, bench outfits, sewing kits and baskets, materials of all kinds for constructive work and crafts, all these are good. A loom is a good investment for one sort of child and a garden set for another. Study your child and make your gifts conform to the dignity of their use. They are the child's measure of growth.

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON

"Nothing But Wodehouse."
Laughs aren't so common these days that any of us can afford to pass up mirth-provoking chances. If you want to forget your troubles and burst yourself of a whole series of guffaws I suggest that you get a copy of "Nothing But Wodehouse."

Here is an omnibus volume containing a great number of the funniest stories of that very gifted humorist, P. G. Wodehouse. If you have ever read any of his books, I won't need to tell you anything about him; if you haven't, all I can do is advise you to start at once—and ask you where on earth you've been all these years.

Included in "Nothing But Wodehouse" is the full-length novel, "Leave It to Smith." There are also 11 stories about Jeeves, that super-valvet; six stories from "Heather, Enjoyed It," three from "Meet Mr. Mulliner," and four from "Mr. Mulliner Smokes."

Orden Nash edited the book, and while every Wodehouse fan will think of one or two stories that ought to be in the book and aren't, the selection of stories has been very good. After all, it would be impossible to make up a book of this kind without leaving out somebody's favorite tale, and Mr. Nash seems to have done about as well as anyone could expect.

I don't know of anyone who can write funny stories quite as well as Mr. Wodehouse can. This book contains some of his best.

"Nothing But Wodehouse" is published by Doubleday, Doran and Co.

In the use of the words "my" and "mine."

State Covered By Ocean Years Ago, Club Told

Geological History of Wisconsin Traced by Dr. Rufus Bagg

Neenah—The geological history of Wisconsin and particularly of the Fox river valley, through the ages when the ocean covered and receded from the state, was traced by Dr. Rufus Bagg, Lawrence college geologist, at the first of a series of Monday noon luncheons for members of the Neenah club.

Using a chart to illustrate his talk, and displaying fossils and samples of soil and rock, Dr. Bagg explained how various layers of clay, sandstone, limestone and shale were deposited on the surface of the state each time the ocean covered and receded from the land millions of years ago.

Dr. Bagg referred to the mineral deposits in the Cambrian layer which are responsible for the hardness of Neenah city water at present. The first coral reef in the world was in Wisconsin, he pointed out, and because coral can exist only under certain conditions, the discovery of the reef indicates that the ocean covering the state at that time was shallow, and that the water was fairly clear, and that the climate was tropical.

Dr. Bagg discussed the glacial period and its place in the geological history of this vicinity, explaining how the ice brought down boulders from other localities, altered the surface of the land, and created and affected lakes and rivers.

He exhibited pieces of fossilized wood, one of which was found several feet underground at Appleton and another at Neenah, explaining how the trees were leveled by the glacier and buried for thousands of years under thick layers of earth. In conclusion he exhibited a chart showing the location of an extinct lake in Center Swamp only a few miles from Appleton, and explained how, by drilling, he was able to ascertain the size and depth of the lake as it existed before the glacial period.

Tuchschere High In K. C. Bowling

Neenah—Ruben Tuchschere led Knights of Columbus league keglers on the Neenah alleys Monday evening with a 581 series on individual scores of 202, 165 and 214 while Neenahboom followed with 573. J. Muench chalked up a 221 pin high single game.

State School Aid Lower, Board Learns

Neenah—The board of education met Monday evening at the high school office. Dr. L. J. McCarty acted as chairman. Monthly reports of the nurse, dental hygienist and the cafeteria were presented.

Superintendent C. F. Hedges read a letter from State Superintendent John Callahan, in which he stated that state aid for the year June, 1932 to June, 1933, would be reduced approximately 10 per cent. A letter also was read by Mr. Hedges from the Wisconsin Association of School Boards giving tentative plans for their future programs.

Medical examination will be given to all girls attending gymnasium classes who were not examined last year, it was decided.

A report was given of a recent meeting of city, county and normal school superintendents held at Madison at which Superintendent Hedges was in attendance.

Bills totaling $15,330.97, including salaries, were approved.

Freshman Class to Present Short Play

Neenah—"Not Quite Such a Goose," a short play, is to be presented by the high school freshman speech class some time after Christmas according to Miss Ruth Dickhaut, speech instructor. The cast, as selected by the Thespians before whom the tryouts were given, includes Joyce Nelson as Mrs. Bell; Ernest Patterson as Albert; Lorraine Wagner as Sylvia; Phyllis Clancy as Hazel; and John Canavan as Philip. Geraldine Kuehnstead and Jessica Brokaw are directing the play.

Auditor to Speak at Kiwanis Club Meeting

Neenah—William Clifford, auditor of Kimberly-Clark corporation, will be the principal speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Neenah Kiwanis club at the Valley Inn Wednesday noon. Clifford is expected to talk on Federal Sales Tax.

TO ATTEND CLINIC

Neenah—Coach Ole Jorgensen will attend the seventh annual coaching and physical education clinic to be held Dec. 9 and 10 at Madison. The clinic is under the auspices of the departments of intercollegiate and physical education of the University of Wisconsin.

Senior Class Leads On School Honor Roll

Neenah—The high school senior class, with five pupils, leads the four classes on the honor roll following the second six weeks of school. Juniors and sophomores are tied for second place with four pupils each while the freshman class has two pupils.

The seniors who have won three A's during the period are: Eunice Stacker, Jeanette Wiese, Robert Hafstrom, Donald Schalk and Blanche Anderson. Juniors are Betty Heup, Lois Hough, Elaine Huston and Eileen Cannon; sophomores are Paul Bleiler, Marion Knutson, William Hafstrom and Paul Knutson, and the freshmen are Vera Thorsen and Phyllis Clancy. Those who were on the first six weeks' honor roll were Eunice Stacker, Blanche Anderson, Robert Hafstrom, Lois Hough, Elaine Huston, Paul Bleiler, Marion Knutson.

Neenah Society

Neenah—James P. Hawley post of American Legion, at a regular meeting at the city hall Monday evening, took action to drape the charter for 30 days in memory of two departed members, Ray E. Willis and John W. Powers. Following the regular business session Monday the evening was spent socially.

Miss Dorothy Bethurum, Lawrence college faculty member, spoke at a meeting of the Tuesday club in the library club room Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. E. D. Beals and Mrs. F. E. Ballister were hostesses.

Friendship class of the Baptist church was entertained at the home of Mrs. George Runde Monday evening. Mrs. Runde and Miss Virginia Doane were hostesses.

Routine work was done at a meeting of the Neenah Amusement association in Eagles' hall Monday evening.

Havilah Babcock Bible class met at the First Presbyterian church Tuesday-morning to sew quilts. A picnic lunch was served at noon.

The fourth meeting of the Nevin Junior music club was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Annette Matheson, church street.

Following the usual business session during which plans for the annual Christmas party were completed, the program consisting of papers on the Riverside church of New York City was presented. It was a continuation of the general topic of the club season, Famous Churches and Cathedrals and their Association with Music.

"The Beauty of Riverside Church" was the title of an article read by Mrs. Matheson. The second paper was given by Janet Johnson, "The Organ, Carillon and Choir of the Riverside Church," and consisted of a description of the large organ in the church proper, the Laura Speller Rockefeller Memorial Carillon, and the personnel of the choral unit. One of the numbers played at the dedication service of the church, "Arioso in A major" by Bach, was given as a piano solo by Willard Luedtke.

An article read by Robert Roberts, "The End of St. Isaac Cathedral, Leningrad, U. S. S. R." formerly St. Petersburg, Russia, which told how the church is being converted into an aesthetic theatre, concluded the program.

The next meeting will be held on Jan. 2, at which time the Notre Dame Cathedral of Paris, will be studied.

Refreshments were served by a committee composed of Annette Matheson, Dorothy Carley and Carmen Thuesen.

Case Dismissed Upon Payment of All Costs

Neenah—Dismissal on payment of costs in a case in which Russell Nickel and Francis Clark were charged with having used set lines in Lake Butte des Morts, was ordered in the municipal court of Judge S. E. Speegler at Oshkosh Monday. The two men had appeared after conviction in the court of Justice Chris Jensen in Neenah and the state elected not to proceed on the evidence obtained, it was stated.

William Horn, Appleton, was fined $10 and costs for drunkenness. Complaint was signed by Julius Holtz, county motorcycle officer, who said the man was arrested at a town of Menasha dance hall.

Band, Glee Club to Present Matinee

Neenah—The high school band and boys and girls glee club have arranged for students' matinee concert at 2:55 on the afternoon of Dec. 9 at the school auditorium. The money derived from the concert will be applied toward funds to defray expenses of the musical organizations which contemplate attending the forthcoming state band tournament at Madison. The program, as arranged by Lester Mairs, includes "Swamp Opera," "Trees," "Stepping Along," and "Drummers' Delight."

Neenah City Band to Rehearse Tomorrow

Neenah—The first rehearsal of the new Neenah city band will be held at the city hall Wednesday evening and all musicians interested in entering the organization have been urged to attend.

The movement to organize the band was started about a month ago by the Neenah and Menasha local of the American Federation of Musicians when Fred Schmidt was named president and Arthur Hittie as secretary.

Mrs. Otjen Talks to Republican Women

Neenah—Mrs. C. J. Otjen of Milwaukee, a member of the Republican state central committee and chairman of the Fifth district, addressed an audience of Neenah women at the Republican women's campaign school in the Burke apartments Monday afternoon. Mrs. Otjen gave a survey of the election and discussed the post-election political situation.

Epworth Cagers Win Second Game

Defeat Sweetner's Aces, 33 to 11 in Tilt at Wesley Hall

Neenah—The Epworth League basketball team won its second consecutive victory Monday evening, defeating Sweetner's Aces, 33-11 at Wesley Hall. The victory is the third in four starts for the Epworths.

The scoring was held down by both teams in the first three quarters. The Aces scored first on a gift shot, but the Epworths revalued with three field goals and two free throws, and led at the close of the quarter 8-2. During the second period, the Aces made their best showing, bringing the score within five points of the leaders, to make the count at the half 14-9.

The third quarter was scoreless. The Epworths opened up in the final period, however, showing an offense which piled on 19 points, and a tight defense which held their opponents to two free throws.

Mott and Pearson led the Epworths scoring with 12 and ten points respectively, while Menning led the Aces with 5 points.

The Epworths have tentatively arranged to play the Little Chute Merchants at Neenah next Saturday evening.

State Holds Lead in Evaporated Whole Milk

Madison—(P)—Although production declined in 1931, Wisconsin produced 37 per cent of the nation's output of evaporated whole milk, Walter Ebling, agricultural statistician for the U. S. and Wisconsin departments of agriculture, announced today.

The state's 1931 manufacture of all condenser products totaled 698,909,000 pounds or 29 per cent of the national output and almost three times the manufacture of its nearest competitor, California. California produced 266,877,000 pounds while New York produced 234,605,000, Michigan 165,393,000, Illinois 135,524,000 and Ohio 125,347,000.

The first decline in the state's condenser production came in 1930. Last year the decline was five per cent from the previous year and a drop of eight per cent from the peak year of 1929, Ebling said. The war period brought rapid expansion in the condenser business.

The 1931 output was divided as follows: case evaporated milk, 78 per cent, powdered skim milk, eight per cent, sweetened condensed whole milk each three per cent, and other condenser products 10 per cent.

In recent years, Ebling said, the ten leading counties in condenser output have been Washington, Dane, Waukesha, Chippewa, Walworth, Dodge, Clark, Manitowish, Green and Door. Together they account for about 50 per cent of the state's total condenser products.

Credits Education For Improvement In Farm Families

Chicago—(P)—A material lessening in the number of grandmothers on farms today who have false teeth was chalked up to the credit of farm education by an American Farm Bureau federation leader.

It used to be, said Mrs. Elsworth Richardson of Albion, Iowa that when a farmer's wife reached the grandmother stage in life she had false teeth. But that is not so now, added this state chairman at the annual convention here of the home and community division of the American Farm Bureau federation.

"Farm women, in addition to being better educated in the care of their teeth, are better schooled in dietetics than were their grandmothers. Consequently they know more about foods that build good bones and teeth."

Mrs. Richardson said it also follows that there is less rickets among farm children today than when grandmother was a child.

Families on the farms today, she continued, are not as large as two decades ago, when it was not unusual for a mother to have ten to fifteen children.

County Officers Not Barred From Hiring Relatives

Board Has No Power to Pass Resolution, District Attorney Rules

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca — The county board, in session last week at the courthouse in Waupaca, adjourned Saturday noon until Wednesday because of a meeting of town boards Tuesday.

In regard to the resolution pertaining to officers employing members of their own family, the opinion of District Attorney L. D. Smith was read as follows:

"The statutes provide that the various officers of the county shall appoint such deputies as may be necessary. The board of supervisors has nothing at all to do or say about who the officers shall appoint as their deputies. The choice of such deputies is left entirely to the officers." It was pointed out that the county board would therefore have no power to pass a resolution directing the officers of the county not to employ a member of their family as such deputy.

The Women's Relief Corps will hold a picnic dinner Thursday afternoon at the I. O. O. F. hall. This dinner will be followed by the annual election of officers of the Relief Corps.

Relief child health centers for four Waupaca-co communities held monthly in an arrangement between local women's organizations and the bureau of child welfare, state board of health, have been scheduled as follows by Mrs. Hazel Barton, county nurse: Tuesday, Clintonville; Wednesday, New London city hall; Friday, Waupaca city hall; Friday, Iowa high school.

Miss Marilyn Button was hostess to members of the Question Mark Club at her home on High-st Monday afternoon.

Fire Department to Sponsor Charity Ball

Special to Post-Crescent

New London — At a meeting of the city fire department Monday night it was decided to make the annual ball a charity affair. Firemen voted to hold the yearly social affair at Werner's hall on Wednesday evening, Dec. 28, all proceeds to be given for relief of the city's poor. The change in plans was made this year because of the unusual demands which were made by unemployment. Chief C. J. Dean was named general chairman, with William Dent, Hadrian Freiberger, Miss Nesbitt and Leo Hervey in charge of advertising. The hall committee comprises Ralph Restle, William Freiberger and William Hall, while decorations will be taken care of by Dan Rex, Everett Wells, and Mr. Dean. An all membership committee will supervise music arrangements. Two bands will play for dancing. Invitations will be sent to departments of Hortonville, Clintonville, Appleton, Shiocton, Oshkosh, Wausau and Scandinavia.

Charles E. Lipke Dies at Madison

Funeral to be Held at 2 O'clock Wednesday Afternoon at Home

Special to Post-Crescent
New London — The death of Charles E. Lipke, 78, 17 E. Beacon-ave., occurred at a Madison hospital at 4 o'clock Monday morning. Mr. Lipke, who had been a semi-invalid for the past 13 years, had been taken to Madison for treatment and had been a patient there for the past month. Mrs. Lipke was with him at the time of his death. The body was returned here to the Cline-Learman funeral home Monday afternoon. The funeral will be Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence on Beacon-ave. with the Rev. A. W. Sneesby in charge. Burial will be in Floral Hill cemetery.

Mr. Lipke was born in Appleton July 23, 1854, the son of Charles and Ulricka Lipke. Mr. Lipke's parents were among the pioneer settlers of this community, the elder Lipke being identified with the Lipke-Dedolph company, operating a stove factory here in the early years of the city's settlement. Mr. Lipke grew to manhood here and for a long period was owner of a livery located on the present location of the Buick Motor company. His marriage to Miss Margaret Kelly of this city took place here and to this couple were born three children, Mrs. A. W. Anderson of this city, Bert and George Lipke of Sheboygan. Mrs. Lipke died 33 years ago and later Mr. Lipke married Miss Zoe Montgomery of New London, who with the three children, four grandchildren and one great grand child and a brother, William Lipke, of this city survive.

CONDITION IMPROVES

Special to Post-Crescent

New London — The condition of Rudolph Hilde, 27, whose arm was amputated in a corn shredder at the farm of his father in the town of Hortonville late Friday afternoon, is favorable. Mr. Hilde is confined at Community hospital. The accident occurred when the young man attempted to extricate stalks caught in the machinery. The mitten of his left hand, became caught, drawing the arm into the cutting apparatus. Members of the crew working at the farm, hearing his cries for help, were unable to extricate him at once. The machine had to be taken apart before the young man was freed and the arm was found to have been amputated below the left elbow. At Community hospital it was found necessary to amputate above the elbow in order to save the life of the patient.

Catarrhal Deafness May Be Overcome

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if blood drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels, you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost.

Secure from Schlitz Bros. Co. or your druggist 1 oz. Parment (Double Strength). Take this home and add 1 pint hot water and a little sugar. One tablespoonful four times a day should quickly relieve distressing catarrhal head noises, clogged nostrils, difficult breathing and dropping mucous, and improve hearing. All victims of catarrhal deafness or head noises should give Parment a trial.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

Saves $2. No Cooking! So Easy!

Millions of housewives have found, that by mixing their own cough medicine they get a purer, more effective remedy. They use a recipe which costs about one-fourth as much as ready-made medicine, but which really has no equal for breaking up the most obstinate cough. From any drugstore get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and one cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and makes the most effective remedy that money could buy. Keeps perfectly, and children love its taste. Its quick action loosens the phlegm, clearing the air passages, and soothing away the inflammation, has caused it to be used in more homes than any other cough remedy.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its healing effect on throat membranes. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

High School Cagers Will Meet Wisconsin Rapids, Wausau

Orange Squad Boasts Much Good Material

Bobbie Rule and Jim Murphy, Guards, are Only Veterans

APPLETON high school basketball squad will include in another round of practice games this weekend when it goes to Wisconsin Rapids on Friday evening and hops to Wausau on Saturday. It will be the third year Orange fives have gone into the central part of the state for pre-season contests.

Pleased with the showing of his proteges at Oshkosh Friday evening but recognizing the fact the boys need a lot of drilling, Coach Joseph Shields has mapped out a straight week of practice. The first squad last week won 22- and 11, while the second squad ran up a 34 and 6 count.

Appleton this year appears blessed with plenty of material but few really experienced boys. Bobbie Rule who is captain of this year's team, and Jim Murphy, both playing guard this season, are the only veterans of former campaigns.

When the Orange takes the field against Wisconsin Rapids it will be meeting a squad just getting started under direction of a new coach. The central Wisconsin school recently acquired Carl Klandrud as mentor and he has been with his new charges just about 10 days. Last season the Orange went to the Rapids and helped dedicate the city's new field house. The squad performed perfectly that night, so perfectly in fact it repeated few times after that.

Little is known about Wausau, the opponent for Saturday night. The meeting of the two schools will be the first in several years.

Greenleaf Winner In First Cue Game

Swamps James Mills of San Jose, Calif., 125 to 32

New York —(P)—Once more it's Ralph Greenleaf against the field in the national pocket billiard championship.

The dapper New Yorker, opening defense of the title he has won ten times since 1919, swamped James Mills of San Jose, Calif., 125 to 32, at the Capitol Billiard academy last night and demonstrated he will take a lot of beating before the 18-day tournament is completed.

Greenleaf was in unbeatable form, once he snatched the lead with a high run of 30 in the fourth inning. From then on it was a procession until the champion ran out the match in the twelfth inning with an unfinished cluster of 21. Mills started well, running 16 in the second inning and adding six more in the third but thereafter he was in the mercy of Greenleaf's magnificent safety play.

Three matches were to be played today.

Ohio State Opens Its Cage Season

Chicago —(P)—For the first time in 20 years Ohio State will open its basketball schedule away from home, meeting Toledo at Toledo tonight. Indiana also will open, taking the little giants of Wabash at Bloomington.

Northwestern made its first appearance in competition last night and turned in an unexpectedly impressive performance in walloping Bradley Tech, 44 to 19. Michigan, however, took a beating in its inaugural, losing to the strong Western (Mich.) State Teachers, 37 to 31.

Chicago White Sox Won't Have Coaches

Chicago —(P)—Manager Lew Fonseca of the Chicago White Sox, may have to call on active players to man the coaching lines and instruct the youngsters this season.

Bill Cunningham and Johnny Butler, who served as coaches last season, have been made free agents and reports say no full time men will be signed in their places.

Manager Charlie Grimm expects that both (Red) Corriden and Charlie O'Leary, who coached the National league champion Cubs last year, will be retained.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS By Lauter

Chaff 'n Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

THERE'S many a father who rears a son in hopes the youngster will win the fame of the gridiron that perhaps slipped from the father. An that is the story of the Martinez-Zorillas boys who have played for Cornell in recent years and one of whom, Jose, was picked as an all-American end this fall.

Back in 1904 the father, of Spanish descent and a resident of Mexico, was crowded off the Cornell team by a brother. In 1908 he married an American girl and they had three sons. Papa Martinez-Zorillas took over their physical training and soon built them into strapping boys, determined they would bring success to Cornell and glory to his family.

In 1926 the eldest boy was ready to go to college. So the family moved to Ithaca and has lived there since and will continue until the youngest, Jose, graduates. The father took post graduate athletic work, he helped the coaches he tutored football men, made every trip, ate at the training table.

Carlos, the oldest boy, failed to win a football letter but earned a "C" in lacrosse his senior year. Cristobal, the second son, earned letters in fencing, lacrosse, wrestling and football. Last year he captained the team at tackle and was one of the greatest in the east. In the family trophy room here are eight footballs from last year.

Although he weighed only 125 pounds the first year he tried out for the Ithaca high school team, little Jose fought off one attack of pneumonia from which he almost died and by 1929 had picked up enough weight to make Cornell's freshman team. The next year, at 17 and weighing 168, he nailed down a regular berth on the varsity.

How well he played in this, his final year, is reflected in the remark of a Philadelphia sports writer who, after watching the Cornell-Penn game, recalled that 17 members of the Penn team were due to be graduated.

"May they enjoy long and useful careers in the business world," he wrote, "and may they not run into too many Martinez-Zorillas along the way."

Here's one for the second guessers to look over, pack into the old corn cob pipe and then puff for awhile—it's the ten year basketball record of Appleton high school and it isn't bad at all.

From South Bend comes the tip that "Hunk" Anderson will stay as head coach, but that Athletic Director Jess Harper will leave Notre Dame. The route of the Army by the rejuvenated Ramblers is Hunk's big achievement to date, strictly a product of his own handiwork, and it carries big weight among Notre Dame men all over the country.

Speaking of Anderson, Frank Graham in the New York Sun tells, with a timely touch, the story of a time Hunk and Knute Rockne were riding along in a small car. Rock was at the wheel. The car was brushed by a big truck, from the high seat of which two very tough-looking eggs glared down at him.

Rock poked his head out of his side of the car.
"Why don't you look where you're going?" he demanded.
"You're worse than a dumb tackle!"
"See you?" growled the driver of the truck. "Another woid out of you and I'll bust you on the nose."
"You and who else?" challenged Rock.

Now, Rock feared no man that lived—or no two men, for that matter. But it was a hot day and he was comfortably settled behind the wheel, so he turned to big, silent Anderson.

"You handle 'em, Hunk," he said. So Hunk opened the door of his side and stepped out and banged the two truckies' heads together and punched them full of holes and climbed back into the car. Rock stepped on the gas and the little car hummed down the road.

"Nice work, Hunk," said Rock.
Purdue Holds Records
Since its game with Minnesota, in 1928, Purdue has scored in every football contest, running up a string of 40 consecutive games. The Boilermakers broke the Notre Dame record string of 38 games this year.

Older Boys Open Cage Schedule

Three Games Booked With First Starting at 7:15 in Evening

Play in the Older Boy basketball league of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. will begin at 7:30 Tuesday evening at the association gymnasium. Organized about three years ago, the Older Boy loop has been unusually successful. It was started under C. C. Bailey who will continue to handle the project in an advisory capacity.

The league is for boys under 18 years of age and serves as an opportunity to play basketball for those who can't perform in the high school first or second squad. Participation in a game with either of the two Orange squads bars a player from further competition in the O. B. loop. The league has done much to help boys learn their basketball and many later have won places on the Orange squad.

The first game Tuesday night will begin at 7:30 and will show the Merchants versus the Stag Hi-Y team. At 8:15 the Valley Sports will tackle the Sam Ornstein Specials, an old team with an old name but with new players. Manager Sammy has picked up an entirely new squad to seek the championship his last year's team won.

Third Ward Wolves and the Pond Juniors will show at 9 o'clock in the third game of the evening. Play will be resumed on Saturday afternoon with four clubs showing in two games.

Report Veenker to Get Stagg's Job

Veteran Football Coach Definitely Out at U. Of Chicago

Chicago —(P)—With the definite assurance that Amos Alonzo Stagg, for 41-years director of athletics and football coach at the University of Chicago, would not be appointed, reports persisted today that George Veenker, football and basketball coach at Iowa State college, has the inside track as the successor to Stagg.

Thomas A. Metcalf, new director of athletics at Chicago, however, said he has made no definite selection. Metcalf at present is director of athletics at Iowa State, having resigned to succeed Stagg next year.

Stagg will sever all connections with Chicago when his enforced retirement becomes effective next June. He has refused to accept an honorary post created for him as chairman of the university's committee on intercollegiate athletics.

Stagg said he could not accept a position without work and that he would have made no definite selection. Metcalf at present is director of athletics at Iowa State, having resigned to succeed Stagg next year.

"I must have work, and since I cannot coach football I am leaving the university," Stagg added. "I am open for proposals."

Stagg, in refusing the honorary post, gave up a salary equivalent to the amount he is now receiving, as director and football coach, reported to be $8,000 a year. He will retire on his $3,000 annual pension.

Skaters Protest U. S. Amateur Selections

Chicago —(P)—Claims by O'Neill Farrell and Eddie Murphy, of Chicago, that they merit places on the United States skating team which starts at Oslo, Jan. 28-29, may be settled by adding another man to the team already selected.

Farrell and Murphy protested to Frank Kalteux, president of the Amateur Skating Union of the United States, against being left off the team, claiming their performances at Lake Placid last winter entitled at least one of them to a place, instead of Eddie Wedge of Detroit.

Gets New Job

Glenn "Pop" Warner

Philadelphia —(P)—Announcement was made today that Glenn S. Warner had been appointed head football coach at Temple university for five years.

The announcement was made by Earl R. Yeomans, graduate manager of athletics at Temple, who declined to name Warner's salary.

Henry J. (Heine) Miller, whose present contract as head coach expires Jan. 1, can remain at Temple for another year as assistant to Warner, if he desires.

Marquette Cagers Clash With Whitewater

Milwaukee —(P)—Marquette university opens its 1932-33 basketball schedule tonight against a veteran Whitewater State Teachers' college quintet, which last year placed second in the teachers' college conference.

Co-Captains Eugene Ronzani and Francis Zammach, guards, Marino Fiorani, center, and Ed Mullen, forward, are experienced players who will see action for Marquette.

Among the lettermen likely to receive first call in the Whitewater lineup are Clarence Mundt, center, Jimmy Faust and Larry Kruger, forwards, and Adam Janicek, guard. Ralph Schmitt, the other veteran guard, has been ill and his place probably will be taken by Leonard Converse.

Kimberly Meets Pond All Stars

Appleton Aggregation Is Strongest Club Villagers Have Met

Kimberly — Final arrangements have been made to bring the strong Ponds All Stars, one of the toughest opponents to face the Kimberly Clubbers this year, to Kimberly, Thursday night. The Pond aggregation should give the Club a merry work out and satisfy the fans who are calling for tougher competition.

The Appleton team is headed by Ken Laird and Dan Steinhilber of Lawrenceville, May develop so fast while in high school and now fits in the Club offensive like a glove. Du Pont a fighting fool on defense and a tough man under the basket will cavort in the pivot position. The combination of Schwank and Busch at guard is so well organized it wouldn't be the Club team without them. Both men are demons on defense and also come through offensively.

Bouressa, lanky forward and Vander Zanden who can be used at a forward or guard position, will be ready for relief duty.

Minor Leaguers Holding Meeting

"No Jobs Open" Sign Is Hung Out by Most of The Club Owners

Columbus, O. —(P)—Baseball's army of the unemployed is not decreasing in size at the annual convention of the National Association of Professional Leagues in session here.

Usually the national convention is the ideal spot for the non-workers to catch on or magnates to strengthen their clubs. But not this year.

Two of the six days have already elapsed and the sole player deal is the signing of two young semi-professionals by the Hazelton club in the New York-Penn loop.

"And there won't be many deals this year," is heard on all sides. What with many clubs overhauling their rosters the outlook is none too bright for the non-workers.

Several magnates say they have some irons in the fire for trades, but none are looking for new talent.

Right now the owners are too busy trying to iron out the dissension that is cropping up over the recommendation to fix a salary limit which was made several weeks ago by the association's "committee of five," which was appointed to diagnose minor league ills and prescribe for them.

The American association favors a $2,000 a month salary limit; the International league believes that figure too low and the Pacific coast group says "no salary limit at all."

These three class AA circuits will get together again today in an effort to compromise their differences.

LITTLE FELLOWS MIX FRIDAY

Kid Chocolate Fidel La Barba

NEW YORK—The figure three seems to have a lot to do with the coming battle between Kid Chocolate and Fidel La Barba in Madison Square Garden here Dec. 9. It will be the third time the two boys have battled each other, and it will undoubtedly be the third great fight staged in the east during the present fistic season.

Fans are still chattering about the great Schmeling-Walker and Canezoni-Petrolle shundings, and there's every reason to suspect that this tilt between the two featherweights, for the championship as far as the New York Boxing Commission is concerned, will be a wow.

The rubber bout, the boys are calling it around the ballyhoo agencies. And it's figured that the two feathers will be in there winging for the rubber decision just as enthusiastically as a four-some of old mads having their weekly bridge.

La Barba, the erudite kid from Los Angeles, who went to Stanford University after his retirement from the flyweight championship, and who learned a lot about literature, astrology and spiritualism, is showing his second time out for the championship.

The first crack he took at the heavier division was against Bat Battalino, and he lost by a shade. Since then Bat has forfeited his title to Lew Feldman, and Feldman turned it over to the "Keed" after the ebony-hued package of lefts and rights beat him in New York last October.

Fidel, an Italian-American, began belting them around about 10 years ago. Before he knew it he was selected to fight for Uncle Sam in the 1924 Olympic games. He came out of those games amateur champion of the world. Right then and there the kid began his rise, and only engaged in 10 professional scraps before he was matched with Frankie Genaro for the world's pro title. He won that honor in 1925.

In the meantime the Cuban flash, Chocolate, had invaded the country. The smiling, teeth-flashing "Keed" was on his way up when he met La Barba the first time in 1929. The chocolate flash bested Fidel in a 10-round bout. The following year La Barba again met Chocolate, and this time he won, taking the bout in the last of 10 rounds.

So they meet again, Chocolate champion of his class, according to the New York moguls, and La Barba, challenger. The goal of both is probably a bout with Tommy Paul, recognized as champion of the division by the National Boxing Association by virtue of his winning and elimination tournament some time ago.

MATCH GAMES

The Haug Champlin bowlers lost a match game to the Fredericks of Oshkosh Sunday by a count of 2,550 to 2,483. The Appleton team was led by P. Hornke who rolled a 230 in the first contest, hit 184 in the second and 176 in the third. Her series total was 590. Other Appleton totals were Pingel, 462, Austin 499, Becher, 443, and Dr. Arndt 489. The game scores follow:

Haug Gas ... 852 815 815—2483
Fredericks ... 784 869 897—2550
Next Sunday the Appleton girls will roll a Green Bay team at the Bay.

MID WESTERN LEAGUE

Kraft Cheese bowlers of Appleton dropped two games in the Mid Wisconsin League Sunday when they met the Fondy Arcades here. Fondy won the first game with a 1066 total which showed scores of 220, 234, 204, 245. Appleton won the second game with H. Brock's 247 and D. Verwey's 214 but the third went to Fondy with a 1,003 total from scores of 205, 230, and 220.

For Appleton A. Mitchell had 223 in the first game, in the second game Brock had 247, Verwey, 214 and in the third game Brecklin had 222, Mitchell 218. Mitchell had a 610 total for the afternoon. The scores: Kraft Cheese ... 933 958 958—2849
Fondy ... 1066 853 1003—2922

SAUSAGES-WINNERS

Hoppy Sausages won three games from the Henry Recreations and the match at the Menasha alleys Sunday. The match score was 2544 to 2295. A Mundingher had a 200 for the Appleton girls in the first game. G. Koerner 190 in the second and 176 in the third. The Appleton totals were M. Tarnow 459, A. Mundingher 526, L. Luaders 536, S.

Crusaders still are finding the going rather easy and they won two last night from the Santa Maria. The Santa Maria won the first game with J. Schneider's 199. John Morgan had a 164, Tom Flanagan a 161 in the second game and the Crusaders copped. In the third Chief Prim whaled a 166 total and again the Crusaders copped.

Columbians dropped two to the Navigators. They won the first game with Connolly's 202 and then dropped the second when C. Van Able hit 223 and took the third with a 201 by J. Balliet.

San Salvadors won three decisions thanks to some great kegling by J. Bauer and C. Arft. In the first game Bauer hit a 243 for high game for the evening. He also had a 207 in the second game and 175 in the third for a 625 series. C. Arft had a 218 in the third San Salvador win.

Mariners didn't get many pieces of maple last night and they took a trimming from the Shamrocks by a 3 and 0 count. For the winners Gritzmacher had 188, 157 and 202—547.

Pintas won two games from the Balboas who showed three keggers. Balboas won the first game with a score of 859 to 842, Schaefer and J. Roemer both showing scores in the 170's. Pintas won the second game of E. Milhaupt's 174 and the third with R. Wenzel's 183.

Automobile Ads

Ban Didrickson From Amateurs

Greatest Woman Track, Field Star Disqualified by A. A. U.

NEW YORK —(P)—An enterprising bit of automobile advertising featuring Mildred Babe Didrickson, may cost her her amateur standing.

The world's greatest woman athlete—as most authorities are agreed—was disqualified yesterday from further amateur competition because her name appeared in an advertisement boosting the latest model of an automobile manufacturing concern.

The next move, Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union, made plain, is strictly up to Mildred.

He pointed out that the advertisement, in which Miss Didrickson was quoted in glowing praise of the new model, was a palpable violation of A. A. U. rules and automatically disbarred the Texas star from amateur competition.

Down at her home in Dallas, Miss Didrickson said it was all a big mistake.

"I let this automobile company make a picture of me," she explained, "but I told them not to use it. They did so without my permission. I do not intend to turn professional before next summer—if then."

May Start Suit
Col. M. J. McCombs, athletic director for the Dallas Insurance company by which Miss Didrickson is employed, indicated a damage suit might be entered against the automobile concern.

"Our main interest," he said, "is to get Babe reinstated. She not only tells me she did not give any permission to use her name but she has never seen the model car which she is quoted as praising."

Apparently a court suit is the only possible road leading to Miss Didrickson's reinstatement. As to that Ferris had this to say:

"If she did not sanction the use of her name, she can prove it by bringing suit against the company for impairing her amateur status. If she wins her suit, the A. A. U. immediately would reinstate her."

Miss Didrickson was an outstanding performer in the Olympic games, winning the javelin throw and the 30-meter hurdles in new world's record time and placing second to Jean Shiley of Philadelphia in the high jump who was forced to set still another world's record to win.

Roudebush 480, and G. Koerner 543. The scores: Hendy's ... 743 867 865—2295

Youth Finds Old Bills Of Pioneer Stage Line

don, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Sheldon, 822 N. Lawe-st, unearthed old schedules and way bills of the Weyauwega Stage Line, which operated between Weyauwega and Oshkosh in the early '30s and '40s.

He also found out data on the stage line papers dated 1858, 1860 and 1861. The way bills, constituting daily reports on the number of passengers and baggage carried by them, were found to be well preserved and most of the names are legible.

They also revealed that the average cost of transportation from Weyauwega to Oshkosh was from early as 1838 residents of Appleton, Green Bay, Oshkosh, Weyauwega, New London and Waupaca were more or less dependent on Waukegan stage lines converging at these terminals.

Two Lines Complete

As early as 1838 two separate stage lines were running between Appleton and Oshkosh via this city. A price war resulted and records reveal that at times the fare was as low as 25 cents per passenger.

When saving the fare he

In Farm Tariffs

Quisling Duties

Chicago.—[7]—Higher agricultural and lower industrial tariffs were proposed today by Henry A. Wallace of Des Moines, Iowa, editor of a farm magazine, in a speech prepared for delivery before the American Farm Bureau federation's convention.

"Unfortunately for agriculture," regular routes were under water or covered with mud and snow. When the roadbeds were partly frozen, drivers were often forced to solicit the aid of settlers in hacking down the huge muddy ruts. These ruts sometimes were from six inches to one foot high and made traveling almost impossible.

In 1864 a new stage line started operating between Appleton and he said, "most of the tariffs given here are either immediately or in the long run worthless, paper tariffs. As for tariff matters agriculture has played Esau to the industrial Jacob. To be specific, I mean to say that as long as we have 40,000,000 acres of crop land in the United States, there are few agricultural products which can long benefit from the tariff."

Wallace warned that if there is an overproduction of beef and dairy products of the war. The editor of the leaflet, which he said has been "somewhat effective" on those products for several years, will be almost completely ineffective when our production passes a certain point."

The editor supported Governor Roosevelt in the last campaign although his father was secretary of agriculture under President Harding.

"I am glad to say," he continued, "that the progressive Roosevelt Democrats do not propose to violate any feelings which the farm folks of the middle west have regarding agricultural tariffs. They will not reduce agricultural tariffs as was done in the Underwood act of 1913. But, on the contrary, they are anxious to make the agricultural tariff selection was 'The Merry, Merry Cuckoo' by Jeannette Marks, and Miss Eds gave 'The Barrets of Wimpole Street' by Rudolph Besier. Cage League Granted Use Of Gymnasium

Schedule of Games to be Presented to Commissioners for Approval

Kaukauna—School commissioners Monday evening decided to allow basketball enthusiasts to use the high school gymnasium for league games. A city league is expected to be organized and the schedule will be presented to the board for approval.

Several teams already are organized and have announced intentions of joining the league. The teams will be allowed eight players a squad, and only two lettermen will be allowed to play in a game at one time. This provision is expected to equalize the teams. The league will play its schedule on Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoons. Ten teams will be allowed in the league.

At a meeting last week further plans for the league will be completed and a schedule will be mapped out. There will be teams from both sides of the river and the schedule will give each team two games with every other team in the league.

The board also discussed monthly business and bills were considered. Lester J. Brenzel is secretary of the school commissioners.

Social Items

Kaukauna—Knights of Columbus ladies will meet Thursday afternoon in their clubrooms on W. Wisconsin-ave. A jam and jelly supper will be held for the Green Bay orphanage. Mrs. William Hoelihan is chairman of the social committee.

St. Anne's Court No. 226, Catholic Order of Foresters, will meet this evening in their clubrooms on Wisconsin-ave. Cards will be played following the business session and prizes will be awarded.

Holy Name society of Holy Cross Catholic church will approach communion in a body at the 7 o'clock services next Sunday morning. A meeting and breakfast will follow in the church basement.

Ladies Aid society of First Congregational church will meet at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Fulton on Metcalf-ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCarty celebrated their 12th wedding anniversary at their home on Catherine-st. Sunday evening by entertaining the Contract Bridge club. A 7 o'clock covered dish dinner was served and bridge followed. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. H. T. Runte, Mrs. G. J. Flanagan, and Mrs. Mel Raught.

Mrs. Martin Van Roy entertained the Sunday Night Schaffkopf club at her home in Appleton Sunday evening. Prizes were won by Ed Derrieks, Mrs. August Heinz, and Mrs. Ed Derrieks. The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the Derrieks home.

Production of Ice Cream Drops

Twenty-seven Per Cent Decrease Noted During 1931, Report Shows

Madison—Ice cream production in Wisconsin had dropped 27 per cent last year from the high level of 1929 according to the crop reporting service of the Wisconsin and federal departments of agriculture. During the period from 1929 to 1931 in the nation at large, ice cream production showed a falling off of only 15 per cent. A total of 3,391,000 gallons was produced in Wisconsin in 1929 and 2,541,800 gallons were produced in the United States in the same year while in 1931 Wisconsin's production totalled 6,498,000 gallons.

OLD KING WINTER

MY WHISKERS melt every time I stick my head inside a home where they are burning this new Winterking Coal.

It's funny, but there doesn't seem to be any let-up to the tremendous heat it gives out... it keeps up hour after hour... and lasts longer than any coal I ever had to contend with.

Maybe that's the reason there are so little ashes from Winterking... it burns so hot and clean there is practically nothing left... not even a clinker.

It must be reasonable in price judging by the increasing number of folks using it this season. If you're going to try a ton let me know... I'll keep my distance.
